12 to 14% home mortgages

by DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Good news for those who have been putting off purchasing another home in the Quad-City area. In an effort to break the downhill trend in real estate home buying, both realtors and lending institutions are actively working to finance long-term existing mortgages at 12 to 14 percent — about 5 percent lower than conventional mortgages now being offered.

This program is not a new one, but is one that few home buyers know is available. The base interest rates apply to new loans on property with existing mortgages or loan balances at the same lending institution.

Ken Crossley, vice-president and senior loan officer of Illinois Federal Savings & Loan, based in Fairview Heights, spoke at a meeting of the Board of Realtors and representatives of savings and loan associations, in Belleville. He gave as an example — a buyer of a home with a mortgage of less than 12 percent could receive a 12 percent mortgage to finance the purchase, but that would be far below the prevailing 16.5 or 17 percent rate. Someone buying a home mortgaged at 14 percent probably would be able to take out a new mortgage at 14 percent.

This particular plan is an incentive for the savings and loan associations, since the 12 percent mortgages will most likely replace older, even cheaper mortgages they hold. As mortgaged houses are sold, the older, cheaper mortgage, which sometimes cannot be assumed, will be paid off and a new mortgage will replace the former mortgage.

With the available roll-over mortgage program, realtors have the opportunity to increase their sales and, as cheaper money is offered, the home buyers and sellers will benefit through faster and less expensive sales.

Under the plan, a buyer of an already mortgaged home could receive a 12 percent mortgage at most savings and loans. For every $2,500 needed above the seller's existing mortgage, an additional one-eighth of one percent would be charged.

Actually, 70 percent of the loans in the Quad-City area are for homes with existing mortgages. The interest rates in this locale are approximately four to five percent lower than in the St. Louis area and this is expected to boost home sales activity.

All prospective buyers, whether first timers or repeat homeowners, are eligible to apply for such loans. Generally, a 20 percent down payment is needed to consummate the transaction, and this depends on the total price of the home and balance of the loan.

The average rate of interest on new loans in this area is now 16.3 percent, as compared to 17.52 on a national level. FHA (Federal Home Administration) and VA (Veterans' Administration) loans have various regulations that differ from conventional loans, but some existing loans are assumable.

According to a report from Washington this month, the new average effective commitment rate on long-term fixed-rate mortgages, increased 62 of a percent from February's 17.50 percent. The January rate was 17.34 percent, down from 17.51 percent in December, 18.16 percent in November and the record 18.17 percent in October.

In March, 1981, the rate was set at 15.4 percent.

There is well in excess of $2 billion available for financing in the Illinois portion of the St. Louis metropolitan area — a considerable sum, since no more than a half billion has been used during any good lending year, Crossley commented.

Wally Gorski, president of Midwest Title Insurance Inc., with offices in Edwardsville and Belleville, spoke at a meeting of local realtors and lending institutions' representatives, last week.

He said that having a mortgage with a savings and loan under the plan would be better than buying under a contract for deed.

Each savings and loan association may have slightly different terms, but the doors are open for the general public to question whether they are eligible for a loan on a specific piece of property.

At this time, local banks have not announced a commitment on the roll-over type loans, but have, in the past, agreed to loan assumptions for prospective home buyers who were eligible.

Key carpenters' role for Thweatt

With John Ubaudi leaving to join a construction company, Terry Thweatt has been promoted to his position in the Madison County & Vicinity Carpenters District Council.

Ubaudi, a veteran local trade unionist, surprised many colleagues with his decision to resign from the carpenters' council and the Southwestern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council.

He has been named vice-president in charge of construction for R. & M. Construction, Inc., of Edwardsville. R. & M. has had contracts with the carpenters and other building trades for a number of years.

Ubaudi for the past 11 years has been secretary-treasurer of the Carpenters District Council.

He is generally considered to be one of the most active of all persons in bi-state metropolitan area and Southwestern Illinois labor-management discussions, planning and innovations.

Asserting that union carpenters and contractors were concentrating almost entirely on commercial construction projects in past years, he was among the leaders in an effort to help union firms and workers regain a major role in the building of homes.

Realtors to study new housing plan

by GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City Alderman Paul Fisk's campaign to establish a minimum housing code here will get its first test when the alderman speaks before the Granite City Board of Realtors next week.

Ed Reinegal, a member of the city's Plan Commission, has invited Fisk to talk with realtors at their next meeting April 21. Reinegal said the alderman was invited to "keep realtors on the ground floor of any minimum housing standard ordinance."

"Any time it (laws) affects real estate, we're interested in pointing out our concerns and want to hear his side of it," Reinegal said.

He said a meeting at this early stage of planning might avoid the type of resentment some realtors experienced over what they felt was their lack of input in the city's new zoning ordinance and map. "I don't want the gap to widen," Reinegal said. "Communication is a good thing."

Fisk said one of the past problems in passing a minimum housing code here has been a lack of communication.

Less than a year ago, Fisk, chairman of the ordinance committee, watched the council vote 4-4 to table a two-year-old mandate, which had obligated his committee to bring in a law to improve city housing standards. "If I can relate to them (the realtors) my feelings...then maybe we can find a meeting of the minds," he said.

"As far as I am concerned, the community should be drawn together," Fisk said. Fisk said he was "very pleased and quite anxious to talk to them (realtors)," after he learned of the invitation.

According to the alderman, a "massive fear" seems to exist in Granite City about establishing a minimum housing code and he feels puzzled about the strong opposition, saying many cities have similar ordinances.

He currently is using Alton's code here as a model for a housing code ordinance.

Last month, Mayor Paul Schuler invited Fisk to work on an acceptable housing code after Fisk once again blasted "hideous" housing conditions, which he called a blight creeping across all wards.

At that time, the mayor suggested that Fisk come up with a simple ordinance — as opposed to a previously detailed sample ordinance alderman had reviewed last year and soundly rejected.

The complicated sample ordinance had been instrumental in causing council members to abolish the ordinance committee's mandate to produce a minimum housing code.

Fisk said he has already submitted the different Alton ordinance to the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society and has received that group's written opinions on the law.

He plans to convey the Alton ordinance to other members of the council for their suggestions and comments.

A minimum housing code would give

Philatelic center to open

Good news for stamp collectors and persons just interested in investing in interesting memorabilia, the Granite City Post Office this week will become one of the nation's centers for the purchasing of unusual U.S. Postal items on Wednesday.

And, in conjunction with the opening of the unique service here, the post office will issue a panel of new 20-cent stamps featuring the state birds and flowers of all 50 states on separate stamps with Wednesday being the first day the stamps will be sold nation-wide.

A total of 45,000 panels (full sheets) of the new stamps with 50 different stamps on each sheet (selling for $10 a sheet) are expected to reach the main Granite City Post Office 2350 Madison Ave., early this week, but they cannot be sold until Wednesday morning.

At that time, the post office's new Philatelic Window will open to collectors in the main lobby. "We are tremendously pleased to be one of only 232 post offices throughout the United States to be honored at Philatelic centers," Granite City Postmaster Jack Wilkins noted. He said a great deal of work over many months has gone into convincing federal postal authorities that Granite City's application should be selected from the numerous applications area post offices have sent, asking for the philatelic center designation.

While there are 232 similar facilities in post offices throughout the country, the fact that there are approximately 40,000 post offices shows that less than one percent of the post offices have been chosen to have philatelic windows.

The Birds and Flowers Commemorative panel will be only one of memorabilia offerings at the philatelic window which opens Wednesday. Engraved cachets of new stamps on souvenir envelopes, special can-

Class on preparing for finding new job

Finding a new job after working for the same company 10, 15 or 25 years is not easy. Sometimes it is difficult to know just what companies to contact and then what to say.

Playing the "Job Market
Game" used to be simple.
Finding employment has turned into a confusing, frustrating experience. With so many people being laid-off it is tough just to get an application any more.

There are no simple solutions, no miracles.
However, starting April 15, a series of free classes will be offered by the Metropolitan Re-employment Project to prepare laid-off workers for today's job hunting experience.

The first class will be in resume preparation. "Do not skip those help wanted ads that say to send a resume.
Come to the class and have a resume made. Each participant will receive 10 typed copies free of charge," a spokesman said.

Other classes will instruct on how to write letters of inquiries to companies, presenting yourself on an interview, which companies to contact and going back to school. "Come share your ideas of what has and has not worked in your job search.
Attend all classes or only those which are of special interest," the spokesman suggested.

Space is limited.
Interested persons may call Brenda Derby, 876-2383, to reserve a place in the Resume Preparation class.
Classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Coordinated Youth Services
Building, 1254 Niedringhaus.
The schedule for classes
is: resume preparation,
April 15, letter writing, interviewing, April 22, job search strategies, May 6, and educational opportunities, May 13.

Discuss employee assistance

Employee assistance programs will be discussed by the director of personnel of Peabody Coal Co. at the Thursday, April 15, student chapter meeting of the American Society of Personnel Administration
(ASPA) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Emmett Senn, who has been personnel director at Peabody Coal for the past four years, will speak at 4:30 p.m. in Building III, Room 3317. According to Senn,
employee assistance
programs help employees with personal, financial and legal problems which could affect their job performance.

"You hope to reduce absenteeism and increase productivity by utilizing
employee assistance
programs," Senn said.
Senn has been at Peabody
Coal 10 years and in the field of personnel relations 14 years. He received his bachelor's degree in economics from Washington University and his master's degree in personnel from the University of Missouri at Columbia.

He is president of the Industrial Relations
Association of Greater St.
Louis and was named boss of the year in 1978 by the St.
Louis Chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

The meeting is free and open to the public. For more information, interested persons may contact the ASPA office at SIUE at 1-682-

His second novel...

Native writes midwestern gothic

David Martin, a Granite
City native, has had a second novel, "The Crying Heart Tattoo," published by Holt,
Rinehart and Winston,
New York City.

The novel is about a 14-year-old young man and a 34-year-old "worldly-wise" woman that meet and continue their love affair through 36 years before discovering how deeply they have entined their lives.

The pair sustains
departures and reunions, infidelities, betrayals and even death, while learning the many forms love takes. Illinois settings are used for portions of this "midwestern gothic story."

The book was recently reviewed in the New York Times Review of Books and The Washington Post.
The novel has been purchased by the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Martin's first novel,
"Tethered," won for him
a Bread Loaf Fellowship in 1980.

Novelist Stanley Elkin calls the novel, "So inventive he could take patents out on it; so laid back it might almost have been written on the very bench on which so many of its most wonderful scenes take place; so moving you want to ask about its mileage, David Martin's "The Crying Heart Tattoo" is a grand myth and grander fun."

"The Crying Heart
Tattoo" gave me a feeling of delight — there is no other word for it. It is also very funny and the fables are sparklingly original," according to writer Philip Caputo.

Martin was born in Granite City in 1946. He attended Niedringhaus Elementary School. In 1968, he graduated from the University of Illinois with a journalism degree.
Martin has worked for education magazines in Chicago, San Francisco and, most recently, in Washington, D.C., where he was editor and assistant publisher of The American School Board

Journal and The Executive Educator.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Martin, who are former Granite City residents, and he is the brother of Linda Green of Granite City.

Martin is living in Arlington, Va., with his wife and two sons.
"The Crying Heart

board meeting last week, President Edward L. Vaughn appointed Business Representative Thweatt as secretary-treasurer. Vaughn said he expects the election to be held in July to fill Ubaud's unexpired term.

Along with his duties as acting secretary-treasurer, Thweatt is to continue to serve as a business representative of the District Council. Thweatt pledged "total cooperation with other building trades on issues involving jurisdiction."

"The problems facing carpenters and all of organized labor at this time are extremely serious."

"We are right at the bottom of the barrel" now and under attack from all sides. We are going to come back, but it will take a united labor movement to do so.

"It is important that we show strong commitment to solving jurisdictional matters on construction projects. I intend to be man enough to tell my men when it is not our work. We will expect that kind of cooperation in return."

"We will continue our present political involvement, through action as a council and through the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education."

the city a means to combat landlords who prey on low-income and welfare families, Fisk said. "They show an unconcern for human life," Fisk said. "They are stealing from the value of the property around them."

A possible hint that the council might be more receptive to a housing code now is the recent unanimous acceptance of an updated electrical permit ordinance containing a limited "occupancy permit" provision. The ordinance previously had been withdrawn by the council to prevent its defeat last November.

The new electrical ordinance, which repeats wording in the city's former electrical permit ordinance, calls for an inspection of all residential buildings remaining unoccupied for six months or

State monitoring chemical mishaps

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

A new program, called the Environmental Toxicology Program (ETP), has been established in the state health department.

Purpose of the program is to study health effects on people exposed to environmental chemicals.

It will be several years before the staff starts getting reliable answers to some phases of the investigation. But the primary emphasis will be on four projects: developing a network that reports incidents; investigations of these incidents; getting the data stored in the computer; and evaluation of the risk assessment.

The reporting network will include health departments, hospitals, coroners, veterinarians and physicians throughout the state.

They will be keeping the environmental toxicology staff informed of suspected cases of exposure to toxic substances, of clusters of people or animals who show symptoms of exposure, and of any trends of similar diseases with unknown causes.

Receiving information about such occurrences during the early stages of an incident might help avert the development of a serious, widespread problem.

There will be enormous amounts of data gathered in this program, and one of the major problems is designing computer programs to store and analyze all the data.

Some of the factors that will be considered are the incidence of a disease, information on causes of death, environmental conditions, birth defects, cancer surveillance, chemical substances information and questionnaire data.

Two private organizations have been a great help in getting the program started. The School of Public Health at the University of Illinois has helped develop means of determining health effects of exposure to toxic substances, and its research scientists have been available for technical consultation and risk assessment.

The Cook County Hospital, Division of Occupational Medicine, also provides physicians for consultation. The staff assigned to the ETP hopes to establish a means of sharing information of similar investigations performed in the United States. This will lead to increasing the public's awareness of emerging problems involving toxic substances.

The long-term goal of the program is to build a collection of baseline data that will be used for comparison to identify trends of diseases and exposure.

The staff is currently assembling a "one-stop" desk reference of possible health effect of household chemicals and toxic materials used in structures. It will contain the most recent health information concerning settings such as homes, office, school and industry.

Those who want more information about the Environmental Toxicology Program may contact the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Engineering and Sanitation, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62761.

Woman dies in house fire

A Madison woman, whose home burned Thursday, died Friday after being admitted to the hospital for smoke inhalation when she was taken from the fire scene at 707 Bissell St., Madison.

An inquest is pending.

Sally Mosley, 75, was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 7:55 p.m. Thursday after a neighbor alerted Madison police.

When a Madison police officer first arrived, he saw smoke coming from a window and front door of the frame house.

2 HURTS IN CRASH ON PONTON ROAD
A collision at 1:30 p.m. Thursday on Ponton Road 150 feet west of Johnson Road injured two persons and damaged the right front of the eastbound car of Lisa M. Ware, 17, of 42 Shirlin Drive, Arlington Heights, and the front of the auto of Fred Wilson, 1424 Norwood Road.

Wilson was moving north toward Ponton from a store driveway, and both drivers' vision was limited by two large semi-trucks.

Kathryn Wilson, 46, of 1424 Norwood, a passenger in his auto, was injured, as was Lisa Ware.

A bystander told the officer a woman was still in the burning house, but the officer was then informed that Mrs. Mosley was at her neighbor's home. She was found suffering from smoke inhalation and taken to the hospital.

Officials estimated about $5,000 worth of damage to the $35,000 residence. Damage of the contents was estimated at $5,000.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Dick Mizell notified Madison police that Mrs. Mosley died at 1:25 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Mosley was the wife of Venice Town Board Trustee Earl Mosley.

Tentative funeral arrangements are listed in today's obituary column.

$500,000 awarded to GC man burned in auto crash

After deliberating four hours, a jury in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville has awarded a half-million dollar damage verdict to John Paul Kelley Jr. of Granite City, who was badly burned when his 1972 American Motors Hornet burst into flames during an auto accident three years ago.

ATTO ENTERS WILSON PARK, TWO ARRESTED
Gerald E. Leibold, 19, of 4913 Willow Lane was arrested at 2:15 a.m. Friday at 27th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, where it is alleged his northbound auto failed to turn and entered Wilson Park. Pills of an unknown type were confiscated.

A passenger, Raymond Gattelman, 19, of 5221 Levee Drive was booked at 2:15 a.m. Friday at 27th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, where it is alleged his northbound auto failed to turn and entered Wilson Park. Pills of an unknown type were confiscated.

A young woman in Kelley's auto was killed in that mishap.

The judgment was against American Motors Sales Corp. and AM General Corp. Circuit Judge William Johnson excluded the now-defunct Jung Brothers Pontiac Inc. of Collinsville from the suit, although it was an original defendant.

Kelley was burned March 25, 1979, on Sand Prairie Lane when his auto skidded on ice and hit an abutment, tossing out he and passengers, Linda Kell, 17, of Breckenridge Hills, Mo., and her brother, Raymond Kell, 15. Kelley's auto then was struck by another car and burst into flames. Miss Kell was run over by the other car and was declared dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Kelley, age 22 at the time and a resident of Edward Drive, was severely burned before he was rescued. He was rushed to the burn unit of St. John's Mercy Hospital in West St. Louis County. In his suit, Kelley contended that the fuel system on his Hornet was "unreasonably dangerous."

He was represented by Attorney Morris B. Chapman and Glenn E. Bradford of Granite City.

Coping with inflation topic of senior event

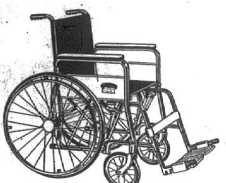

Inflation fighting ideas for the '80s, with practical suggestions for coping, will be the subject of the weekly Dialogue with Senior Citizens at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, Wednesday, April 14. Ray Bernardi, associate professor of business education and director of the university's Center for Economic Education, will look at the major issues affecting seniors, from social security and wills to investments and income taxes. Generally, people are at the mercy of inflation because they misunderstand its causes and relationships, Bernardi believes. "If we can all understand the causes, we may be able to lower the cost of food and goods and services we buy."

The dialogue meets each Wednesday at 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the Mississippi Room of the University Center, sponsored by the SIUE Gerontology Program. Admission is free.

For additional information or a complete listing of programs, interested persons may contact Anthony J. Traxler, Gerontology Program director, at 492-3254.

DISCUSS CULTURAL IMPACT ON SCHOOLS

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be the site of a two-day regional conference this week examining the implications of culture in education.

Sponsored in part by the SIUE School of Education and the Chicago Consortium for Multicultural Training, the conference will meet Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. on the second floor of the University Center.

ARRESTED AS CALLER

Danny W. Jamerson, 31, 2127 Monroe St. was arrested there at 3:25 a.m. Friday after two hours of alleged telephone calls to police and ambulance authorities. He was jailed on a charge of disorderly conduct.

State school staff shrinks due to funds

Like many Illinois school districts, the State Board of Education is feeling the pinch caused by the reduced funding outlook for education.

Staff analyses of state and federal funding prospects for fiscal year 1983 indicate that funds will be substantially short of the amount needed to continue agency functions at current levels.

Consequently, State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill is implementing a plan to reduce staffing levels in the agency. Layoff notices were sent last week to 58 employees of the agency. In addition, seven management positions are being reduced in their classification.

Dr. Gill said the layoffs will affect each of the state board's offices.

Springfield, Mo., Vernon, Rantoul, Dixon and Chicago. The layoffs are effective July 1, the beginning of the state's 1983-84 year.

Supt. Gill said he will rescind as many of the layoffs as possible if the financial outlook improves prior to that time.

"Certainly, laying off staff is one of the most difficult tasks for an administrator," he said. "This unfortunate process gives me an even greater understanding of the difficulties faced in administering today by school administrators when they are forced to send layoff notices to teachers."

Extensive analyses by Dr. Gill's staff estimate the agency will receive about $30,590,000 in state and federal funds next year.

In order for agency operations to continue in FY 83 at their present level - including about 912 staff positions - $32,000,000 would be needed. The anticipated shortfall of $1.46 million led to development of the layoff plan.

Employees were first notified in January about the possibility of layoffs.

CONFER ON COPING WITH AGED PARENTS

Caring and coping with aged parents is the topic of a one-day conference being offered by the Family Counseling Center of Southwestern Illinois on May 15.

Rex Davis, former KMOX radio announcer, will be the main speaker, followed by a panel of senior citizens discussing alternatives in older adult lifestyles.

Workshops will be offered on decision making with aged parents, avoiding guilt in relation to aging, and responsibilities to aged parents. The conference will be held at Signal Hill United Methodist Church, 47 Signal Hill Drive, Belleville, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost is $5 and includes lunch.

Hodshires, Model T dominate historical group discussion

A roundtable discussion of the history of the Hodshire family in Granite City highlighted the April meeting of the Old Six Mile Historical Society, called to order by President Ron Coleman last week with about 25 persons in attendance.

Mrs. Loraine Bischoff, chairman of the nominating committee, presented a slate of officers: president, Don Gargas; vice-president, George Engelke; recording secretary, Darlene Kahn; treasurer, Waldo Frohardt; corresponding secretary, Barbara Williams; and board members, Eldon Curtright, Mary Jesse and Lillian Delps. No additional nominations were made from the floor. The election of the new officers will be on May 3 at the annual meeting.

Waldo Frohardt presented the treasurer's report and also read a letter from Mrs. Helen Ganchett, a former Granite City resident now living in St. Louis. Mrs. Ganchett enclosed her dues for the year.

The Downtown Restoration Society acknowledged our application for the rental of a booth at the annual home tour on May 2. The Hodshire family will be offering memberships offering an embroidered quilt, the recipients to be announced during the afternoon.

Mrs. Bischoff and Mrs. Marguerite Lexow, co-chairmen of the group, announced a suitable location has been found for the event. On October 22 and 23, a "real" antique show will be held in the lower level area of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Fulton and Johnson roads.

Contracts will be sent to a number of reputable exhibitors inviting them to show their wares. This will not be a craft or flea market type; these are antiques, they explain, and the diversification of products is expected.

It was announced that the board of directors has decided to complete the necessary paperwork and to forward it to the state of Illinois in an effort to have the Six Mile House on Route 162 declared a historic site. If the state will not acknowledge the designation, the group will proceed with its own local site marking. It was noted that some of the older history books of the area state that the first school in the area was in existence in 1805 near the Six Mile House.

Due to unexpected events, the announced speaker was unable to be present. Mrs. Lucille Butler filled in on short notice by leading a "round table" reminiscing session. She started the session with some stories that she learned from her relatives.

She stated that the Hodshire family had nine children and that the mother had all the disciplining to do. Living in Lincoln Place at the time of the 1903 flood, the mother recalled, during a windstorm a number of years later, that the wind sounded exactly like the water did as it broke over the river on the Illinois side of the river and the family fled to St. Louis to the old Opera House for shelter.

At one time, the Hodshires established a boarding house and one of their boarders bought a "new-fangled" machine called a gramophone. He only had one cylinder to play on it and that was "Alexander's Ragtime Band." After hearing this melody continuously for a number of days, it "accidentally" got broken. That didn't deter the boarder; he bought another cylinder with the same tune on it.

Mrs. Butler said that even back in the earlier days, family siblings disagreed. A little Hodshire girl thought she had to go everywhere with one of her brothers, even though he objected.

Wanting to go to the show, the brother had the option of taking little sister or not going himself. They went, but the brother ran the little girl on the way from Lincoln Place to the show on the grounds, as fast as he could. The girl later said that sometimes her feet didn't even touch the ground. After the show, they went home at the same rapid pace, and the little girl did not go to go again with the brother.

Mrs. Butler exhibited a picture she had painted from a small photograph of the old Kinderhook Church. When that church was first built, the neighbors complained about the noise of the bell. That same bell is now in a place of honor in Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

Next to the Emerson School and several persons in the audience recalled starting their school days at Emerson. After the church burned, the foundation blocks that remained became the "bases" for ball games played by the Emerson students. Some said the blocks are still there today.

The question was raised, "Do you remember the ice around selling his wares?" "Do you remember the horse trough at the corner of Washington and Niedringhaus?" "Did you know that man washed his ice cream equipment in the water in that horse trough?"

A lady asked if some of the audience remembered the "big brave" when the Model T cars came out. She said they were warned by their parents to stay out of the street, but this lady went out and laid down in the street. No cars came along, though. The same lady ran through the car to get away. She accidentally stepped on the starter button in the floor of the car and the car moved. She never did that again.

The silent movies were extremely popular. In the summer, the movies were held outdoors. Frank Reidelberger from Venice was a piano player for the movies.

Much later, when the Andrews Sisters came to the Mundy Opera in St. Louis to perform, they requested that the same lady, Frank Reidelberger, be their percussionist, or they would not perform.

A former resident of Venice recalled her school days and the gambling establishments on Main Street. She said that after her graduation, her business co-workers were afraid to find out she had lived in that area. She had only pleasant memories of the students would receive from the gamblers when they "knocked on the back door" to sell tickets or ads.

Mrs. Butler recalled the "meanness" of a young boy. A Jewish family was fattening a steaming hen which had already been blessed by the Rabbi. This young fellow poured a bucket of paint over the poor hen. It was a bedraggled fowl that tried to walk around covered with paint.

Another person asked how many could remember the Mollenbrock Bridge, a one-lane bridge. Were they aware that one of the local citizens got a car but had not mastered the skills needed to back up? This person was on the bridge and met a car. One person could not back up and the other driver refused to do so, so they passed on that one-lane bridge.

One of the gentlemen present recalled that he always spent two weeks with his cousin every summer in Venice. He was intrigued at the cattle drives as the cattle from the stockyards came from the stockyards down Main Street in Venice. The streetcars and traffic all stopped - the cattle had the right-of-way.

This same gentleman said his family had a regular routine on Saturdays. His mother, his sister and he would ride the streetcar, costing 5 cents a ride, to downtown Granite to the Washington Theater to see the movies.

The blacksmiths really interested this gentleman when he was younger. A special coupling had been made for the front of the streetcars that crossed McKinley Bridge. When farmers taking wagonloads of potatoes to St. Louis were unable to get up the incline, the streetcars would push these wagons up onto the bridge.

As the closing memory, Mrs. Butler asked how many persons remembered the Labor Day parades where everyone wore his working clothes in the parade and carried flags.

Coffee and donuts were served at the end of the club's meeting while persons continued to reminisce. The May 3 meeting will feature R. E. Abels as the speaker.

'China Syndrome' at SIUE this week

"China Syndrome," a film depicting the terror and problems caused by a nuclear power plant accident, will be shown at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, April 17 through 17.

The PG-rated film will be presented Thursday at 2:30 p.m., Friday at 7 and 9:30 p.m., and Saturday at 7 p.m. in the DeLoe Vu Room of the University Center.

"China Syndrome" stars Jane Fonda and Michael Douglas as a reporter and cameraman who unearth the truth about a reported "safe accident." Jack Lemmon also is featured as the chief engineer supervisor who knows the plant is actually unsafe and should be shut down to prevent a possible meltdown.

Admission is $1 for SIUE students with identification and $1.50 for the general public.

For more information, interested persons may contact the University Center Board at 1-692-2617.

Gross income is a major tax error in '82

Many income tax returns are being delayed or are different from the amount claimed on tax returns because of errors in filling out the returns, Ira Loeb said today.

District director of the Internal Revenue Service in Springfield, he said a frequent error thus far this year is failure to reduce adjusted gross income by $1,000 for each exemption claimed.

On last year's tax returns, the exemption deduction was included in the tax tables. This year's forms, however, require people to make this calculation themselves and enter it on line 33 of Form 1040 or line 11 of Form 1040A.

The IRS official also listed these other common errors:

- Not deducting $200 of interest or dividends ($400 for a married couple filing a joint return).

- Selecting the incorrect tax from the tax table.

- Not claiming the earned income credit when eligible, or claiming the incorrect amount; and

- Incorrectly figuring medical and dental expenses on Schedule A (itemized deductions).

Loeb recommended that taxpayers carefully follow the instructions in their tax packages and review their completed returns to avoid delays in receiving their refunds. The filing deadline is April 15.

BIOGAS TO ALCOHOL. Mascoutah farmer Dennis Knobloch, left, and engineering professor Harlan Bengtson adjust controls on the boiler and distillation column portion of an anaerobic digester and corn still system they designed and built to produce 125 gallons of alcohol fuel a day beginning in May. The experimental project is designed to help make Illinois grain and livestock farmers energy independent.

Governor testifies in favor of enterprise zones in state

Governor James R. Thompson testified in favor of the concept of enterprise zones Wednesday and recommended ways such zones could be established in Illinois in an appearance before the U.S. Senate Small Business Committee.

"This attractive idea of enterprise zones—to remove the burden of government from depressed urban areas—is compelling in its simplicity. In order to design the proper mix of incentives and partnerships, I appointed a task force to review the possibilities and design a state-level approach."

"In Illinois, we have learned that paying attention to existing business, particularly small and medium-sized firms, also yields a handsome reward through retention and expansion," the governor told the committee.

Thompson said he expects to receive recommendations this week on state enterprise zone legislation from the task force, which he appointed last October.

Under the enterprise zone concept, businesses in areas of the state that are declared economically distressed would be eligible for financial incentives such as regulatory relief and tax relief.

In his testimony, the governor cited five approaches that should be incorporated into any enterprise zone concept that is adopted in Illinois. First, he said, the program should be treated and an experiment by limiting the number of zones and the life of the program.

He also said the state must work closely with a local government in setting up any zones and allow the local government to experiment with ways to encourage development.

A series of initiatives involving regulatory relief and incentives should be designed, he said, but the incentives should encourage new investment while the regulatory relief should not undercut health, safety or civil rights.

The state should attempt to help with capital formation by stimulating greater private investment and encouraging special consideration of enterprise zone proposals that use capital instruments such as bonds. But he warned that the state cannot be expected to "fill this gap on its own."

Finally, Thompson said special consideration should be given to zone proposals that incorporate business assistance and development such as management assistance job training. He said these efforts are necessary if enterprise zones are to be used to get ventures off the ground.

"These points reflect the state's overall posture of working creatively with both federal and local government to encourage vitality in depressed areas. It is my understanding that the Illinois Enterprise Zone Task Force has covered these areas in its soon-to-be finalized report."

'New' source of alcohol fuel

The discovery of the steel plow and the soybean may be nothing compared to the revolution a Mascoutah farmer and an engineering professor predict for Illinois agriculture when it discovers it can live without the Arabs or their oil. After all, Illinois has hog manure.

Although manure has always been there, Dennis Knobloch believes it's time farmers use it for something more than fertilizing the corn field.

He wants to make alcohol to fuel his 160-acre family farm and the 350 additional acres he farms in Southern Illinois. It will make every grain and livestock farmer energy independent, he predicts.

Knobloch got interested in producing his own energy as a chemistry student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where he experimented with laboratory models of alcohol stills and anaerobic digesters.

It was a simple next step to put the two together. To prove it will work outside the lab, Knobloch and Harlan Bengtson, an associate professor of engineering at SIUE, built a full-size demonstration model on the farm.

They called it the biogas-alcohol fuel project and won a $36,000 grant for equipment from the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources, one of only eight energy ideas funded by the state.

The innovators expect to begin producing 125 gallons of alcohol a day by May and will monitor the results for a year.

The system begins under the hog house, where waste drops through a slotted floor into a concrete pit and are piped to a buried railroad tank car used as the digester.

When mixed with water and heated to 90 degrees, the biogas comes off and is pumped through an underground pipeline to a converted anhydrous ammonia tank for temporary storage.

The effluent, with the nitrogen intact, goes to a converted fuel tank where it will be used to fertilize the fields as usual.

"The problem with anaerobic digesters in the past has been providing storage for the biogas," Bengtson explained. "Farmers don't always use it at the same rate it is produced, so it must be stored or converted."

"It is expensive to store biogas on a seasonal basis because it requires large tanks compared to propane, which can be liquified."

Some farmers have tried converting the gas to electricity, a fuel they can use year-round. "But the small scale makes it inefficient," Bengtson explained.

"We are trying to develop another alternative—producing a liquid fuel with year-round demand that is also easier to store—alcohol."

To get that final product, the experimenters use the biogas produced in the first step to fuel the second, the corn still.

Knobloch went to an alcohol workshop in Kansas before building the still inside an existing barn. He said he designed the process to run 24 hours a day by itself.

He fills the cooler tank with cracked corn and water, turns on the gas and monitors the fermentation and distillation process.

"The key is stable production with as little tinkering as possible," Knobloch admits. "I cannot afford to be here to watch it."

After the alcohol is distilled, hot water from the process is pumped back to the digester, and the slurry of corn and water goes back to the pigs as feed. "The protein is still in the corn," Bengtson said. "All we have taken out is the starch."

"The only thing wasted is the carbon dioxide that is bubbled off in the water. It could be used in a greenhouse to stimulate growth, but we haven't gone into that."

"The greatest expense is getting started. The operating cost is very little."

"A farmer should be able to produce methane for about the same cost as natural gas," he believes.

"However, the experiment is not aimed at reducing the cost of fuel but at devising a system that is independent of fossil fuel."

"The argument against alcohol production has always been that it uses as much fuel as it produces. If we can make alcohol with biogas, a fuel that comes from a renewable source, then we don't need to worry about the price of gasoline or the coal reserves."

"Even with the present gasoline glut and dropping prices, I think sometimes in the future it would be good to have available the detail of how this works."

BODY RECOVERED. Off-duty Venice police officer Joseph Meenhan, Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg (center) and another man recover the body Saturday of John Conway of St. Genevieve, Mo., from the Mississippi near Madison. Conway, a chief engineer of the towboat Arrowhead, and two others died Tuesday at Alton Lock and Dam 26 when their johnboat jammed into the front end of a barge.

Body found in river

Off-duty Venice Patrolman Joseph Meenhan Saturday afternoon discovered the body of one of three victims who died in an earlier Alton boating accident.

The body was identified as that of John Conway, 26, of St. Genevieve, Mo., who was a chief engineer on the Arrowhead, a towboat owned by the Midwest Towing Co.

Conway had been missing since Tuesday when a 16-foot johnboat — in which he was apparently riding — was found jammed under the front end of a barge at Alton Lock and Dam 26.

Another victim of the accident, a cook, Lisa Crugham, 24, of Amandale, Va., was pulled Thursday active in church work and with a senior citizen's group.

Her husband, Lawrence Knight, died in May 1979.

Among the survivors are a daughter, Lawrence Knight of St. Louis, Mo.; two brothers, Adolph Tessler of Granite City and Joe Tessler of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Bertie Weiss of Granite City, and two nieces and a nephew.

Mrs. Knight's remains were donated to scientific research. A Kampsville funeral home was in charge of arrangements.

Luther Morgan

Luther P. Morgan, 94, 2457 Dewey Ave., died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Friday, April 9, 1982.

He was born in Dover, Tenn., and had been a resident here for 55 years. Mr. Morgan retired in 1962 from Neco Steel Barrel, where he had been employed as an electrician for 50 years.

He was a member of Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church.

Mrs. Morgan is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mattie Morgan; two daughters, Mrs. Philip (Lora) Wroten, Granite City, and Mrs. Lorton (Delphine) Pulley, Granite City; one son, Carl Morgan, Granite City, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. today at Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th and Ohio, from Davis Funeral Home, 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Namekiki Road.

Dr. Delyte Morris

Flags have been lowered to half mast on both the Edwardsville and Carbondale campuses of Southern Illinois University in honor of Delyte W. Morris, former president of SIU, who died at 11:28 a.m. Saturday, April 10, 1982, one day before his 75th birthday.

Dr. Morris died at the Union County Nursing Home in Anna, Ill. He had been in ill health since 1976.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, April 13, in Shroyck Auditorium on the SIU-Carbondale campus. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery in Collinsville.

Dr. Morris was called "a man of great vision" Sunday by a longtime friend, State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene. His far-sightedness and aggressiveness were the powers behind the growth of SIU at Carbondale from a small college with some 2,000 students in the late 1940s into a two-campus system, with an enrollment of more than 35,000 students, the legislator said.

Earl L. Emerson, SIUE president, praised Dr. Morris as "one of the greatest educators in the field of higher education in the 20th century."

In addition to the Edwardsville campus, founded in the late 1950s, and Carbondale campus, the SIU system includes a medical school in Springfield and a dental school in Alton.

Dr. Morris retired as SIU president in June 1970 and was named president emeritus, a post he held until August 1971.

He was born in Xenia, Ill., April 11, 1907. He received a bachelor's degree from Park College in Parkville, Mo., in 1929, and a master's degree from the University of Maine six years later.

In 1936, Dr. Morris received a doctoral degree in speech and psychology from the University of Iowa.

Three years ago, the SIU Board of Trustees honored Dr. Morris by naming the mall in the center of the Edwardsville campus the Delyte W. Morris Quadrangle.

Among the survivors are his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Mayo Morris of Carbondale; two sons, Michael Morris of Clemson, S.C., and Peter Morris of Shepherdstown, W.Va.; a sister, Mrs. Zelma M. Jayne of Kirkwood, Mo.; and a brother, L. E. Morris of Collinsville.

Salley Mosley

Salley Mosley, 707, Bradley St., Madison, died at 1:25 p.m. on Friday, April 9, 1982, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center after being admitted for smoke inhalation on Thursday as the result of a house fire. An inquest is pending.

She is survived by her husband, Earl T. Mosley.

Details are incomplete at this time, but visitation is scheduled at Officer Funeral Home, 2144 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis, on Wednesday from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Funeral services are tentatively scheduled for Thursday at 1 p.m. at Bethel A.M. Church, 1035 Market St., Venice.

Burial will be at Sunset Garden of Memory in Stookey Township. Further information is available from the funeral home by calling 271-6955.

Emory Wilson

Emory B. Wilson Sr., 72, Apt. 403 D, Bissell St., Venice, died Saturday, April 10, 1982, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, after a lengthy illness.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lucille Wilson; two daughters, Joanne Wilson, St. Louis, Mo., and Earline Patterson, Madison, and three sons, Emory Wilson Jr. and Robert Wilson, both of Madison, and Earl Patterson, Joliet, Ill., and 11 grandchildren.

Visitation will be Thursday from 1 to 6 p.m. at Officer Funeral Home, 2144 Missouri Ave., East St. Louis. Funeral services will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Mount Nebo Baptist Church, 800 Jefferson St., Madison with the Rev. Jerome Jackson officiating. Burial will be in Sunset Garden of Memory in Stookey Township.

RESCUE WORKERS Fire and rescue personnel worked feverishly for more than an hour to free Donald Laddy from the wreckage of his car, following a head-on collision

Saturday on Interstate 270. The firemen are from the Mitchell and Granite City departments.

Charged in stabbing

Madison Detective Sgt. Paul Bargiel said John W. Berry, 26, of 1518 (rear) Fifth St., Madison, has been charged with the stabbing of Gary Craig, which occurred last Wednesday.

Craig, 25, of 823 Lincoln Ave., Venice, was stabbed three times with a pair of scissors while visiting the Berry residence, police said. The incident occurred in the kitchen about 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday.

Craig was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of two wounds to the back of his neck and one wound on the left side of his body.

Berry is charged with aggravated battery, said Bargiel. Madison County Associate Judge P. J. O'Neill set bond at $50,000 and issued a mittimus.

Berry was transferred to the Madison County Jail in Edwardsville on Friday morning.

The unrelated stabbing Wednesday of Frank Noblin, 29, of 203 Weber St., Venice, is still under investigation.

DRIVER CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTING TO FLEE

George F. Becker III, 29, 2125 Monroe St., was charged with violating two stops sign, driving the wrong way on a one-way street, reckless driving, illegal transportation of alcohol and attempting to elude officers at 5 p.m. on Friday.

Becker allegedly traveled at a high rate of speed on Cleveland Boulevard at Benton Street and was arrested at the 2400 block of Bryan Avenue. It is alleged a bottle of whiskey was found on the driver's side of the car floorboard.

New folder among concrete results from Chamber's development series

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Local economic developers have been given a head start in defining what sort of people and opportunities exist in the Quad-City area with a 40-page fact folder compiled especially by Illinois Power's Area Development Section.

The folder represents a beginning point for planners hoping to use economic data to fight a poor area image and help larger and entire appropriate industry here.

Some results came as a surprise to the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce's economic development committee.

Depending on who was judging the statistics, the findings were both good and not so encouraging.

However, Carl Muhlenbruch, head of Tec-Search, Inc., who helped compile the report, said it is important for any community selling itself to know what is "manageable" in the area.

The data compares this area with neighboring and regional business competitors as part of an effort to arm the area in its delicate battle to regain a good reputation as the area faces the triple stigma of a poor labor image, quality of life and government cooperation.

A sampling of the preliminary findings on taxes, labor, population, promise employment insurance reform package.

Those facts and other were gathered over the last several weeks as part of the Chamber's and Illinois Power's economic development partnership intended to boost overall growth and push IP's 427-acre Northgate Industrial Park.

The central idea of the data bank is to give an accurate picture of the texture of the economic, social and cultural lifestyle that the area has to offer.

The data also is intended to give Quad-City area a more accurate view of themselves as opposed to any ill-founded preconceptions.

A survey taken on the first of those attending the recent four-part economic seminar here apparently indicated residents felt both labor and government were negative forces in renewed economic growth (Some of the results of the survey were printed in the March 29 issue of the Press-Record).

An identical survey conducted at the conclusion of the seminar still gave the labor force and government low marks.

Statistics showing a low work stoppage percentage was part of the good news. "I was agreeably surprised," said Arthur Griffin, business representative for the Hod Carriers and Building Laborers Union Local 397, concerning some of the labor statistics (Griffin made his remarks at the Chamber's Economic Development meeting. He attended all four seminar sessions).

Alan Richardson, chamber manager, is anxious to remove at least a portion of the Chamber's "rah rah" business image and have discouraged a better labor relationship, and try to establish a closer working relationship with organized labor. He said labor has traditionally been cautious of the Chamber's "pragmatic" reputation.

Chamber feelers also have been made with Buddy Davis, director, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO District 34, in an effort to combat labor and business antagonism.

Richardson cited two local projects — the 19th Street Overpass and Pre-Coat Metals — as recent construction projects that labor completed ahead of schedule, presumably a savings to the community and industry. "That information has not gotten out and not been sold nationally," said Richardson.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler said at the last seminar meeting that he feels the low government ratings are undeserved and indicated that residents are not aware of the city's efforts. "Government may have an undeserved reputation," Richardson agrees. "I've heard a lot of talk about how uncooperative government is, but I haven't found that to be so," he added.

DRUG, TITLE CHARGES
Gary W. Keller, 29, of 925 Washington Ave., Madison, was charged with possessing beer and cannabis in an auto in the alley behind the 2600 block of Washington Avenue last week. The driver, Richard Grider, 30, of 1911 Grand Ave., was booked for having no valid car title and using unassigned license plates.

RELEASED ON BOND
Debra A. Golt, 26, of 2830 Palmer Ave., was freed on $102 cash bond last week a short time after being booked by Granite City police on a January warrant alleging petty theft.

BURGLAR GETS DRUGS
A burglar who broke glass in a door at 4 a.m. today escaped with 21 bottles of controlled drugs and six drug injections from the Bellmore Reese drug store.

SSA should be notified of name change

To avoid federal tax refund delays persons who changed their names last year, such as newlyweds, should report the new name to their local Social Security Administration office to ensure that the correct name and number match, the Internal Revenue service says, because the records of the IRS must match those of the SSA.

Incorrect Social Security numbers and inaccurate addresses slow up processing and this can delay federal tax refunds.

Another good way to guard against unnecessary refund delays is to use the peel-off identification label provided with the tax package. If the name, address or Social Security number is incorrect, necessary changes can be made directly on the label.

Persons wishing special cancellations of the new Birds and Flowers Commemorative stamps may purchase the stamps this week, beginning Wednesday, affix a stamp to an envelope and mail their requests to Birds and Flowers, care of Postmaster, Springfield, Mo., 62701. Customers also should send a larger self-addressed stamped envelope to be used to mail the cancelled envelope back to them.

Special pictorial cancellation materials have been provided the capital cities of each of the 50 states for the Birds and Flowers Commemorative.

Requests for the special cancellations of the Birds and Flowers stamps will be accepted by mail through May 28. The Postal Service will not affix the stamp for this one issue and customers must purchase and affix a stamp to the envelope before sending it for cancellation.

Customers are being reminded that requests for specific Bird and Flower stamps cannot be honored. Those desiring a particular state stamp must purchase the full 10 pane.

cellations, plate blocks, ZIP blocks and other collecting items will be featured.

"The new window will be stocked with numerous philatelic items which should appeal to both the novice and the experienced stamp collector," Wilkins said, adding, "Stamp collecting is the world's most popular hobby with more than 22 million collectors in the United States alone."

"We are looking forward with great expectations toward the success of this service to our area," he said.

The philatelic window will be open Mondays through Fridays from 11

Steelers, Warriors, Trojans compete in meet

North finishes fifth in prestigious event

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE East St. Louis Lincoln won the team title of the Mineral Area Invitational Track Meet at Belleville East Saturday, but it was a good day for Press-Record area track teams.

Saturday was particularly kind to Granite City North. The Steelers finished fifth in the meet with 40 points and placed in seven events.

Granite City South's Dave McLean also shined. McLean won the 3200 meter run and finished second in the 1600 meters. All of the Warriors' 20 team points were scored by their distance runners.

NEW MADISON RECORD
Madison also got in on part of the limelight taken by the Class AA teams in the meet. John Lewis finished third in the high jump for the Trojans and placed seventh in the 800 meter relay. Lewis' jump set a new Madison school record. The previous record was 6-feet-2 1/2.

Lincoln scored 175 points to win the meet. East St. Louis (Sr.) was second with 137 points. Edwardsville finished third with 71.5 points, and Belleville was fourth with 56 points.

"I'll take fifth place every year in this meet," North coach Harry Lang said. "The kids really did well. Our kids really compete hard in these meets."

RENSING SHINES
David Rensing set the pace for the Steelers. Rensing won the discus with a throw of 135'6" and finished fourth in the shotput with a throw of 40'3". Both of these throws were personal best efforts for Rensing.

"I was glad about doing so well," Rensing said. "I'm a little ahead of schedule. It's a little better than I thought I'd do at this point of the season."

"The coaches have pushing me. There's always someone pushing me. I was working in the rainy and snowy weather last week and I was working every day."

DAVIS PLACES
David Davis of the Steelers placed in two events. Davis was second in the 300 low hurdles in 40.3 seconds and eighth in the 100 high hurdles with a time of 18 1/2 seconds.

"That was really good for Davis because he came out of the slow heat and finished second in the 300. If he hadn't ran into the last hurdle, he might have won," Lang said.

Jim Robertson was sixth in the two-mile in 9:39.6. The 3200 relay team of Bill Schaefer, Darren Barnaiz, Bob Portell and John Peters was sixth (8:50.1), and North's team of Joe Hubert, Tim Dean and Schaefer was eighth (3:42.6).

MCLEAN IMPROVES
McLean, South's premier distance runner, ran the 3200 meters in 9:44.0, over three seconds better than his nearest competitor. The time was McLean's best time ever in the event. McLean's time of 3:37.2 seconds was a good second place in the 1600 meters.

"This was an excellent effort for McLean," South coach Mel Bunting said. "It's tough to place in two events in a meet like this because this is just like the district track meet.

This was the Warriors' first outdoor meet of the season. McLean had not run in competition since the Proviso East Invitational March 26.

The only other Warriors to place were Ron Brown, who was sixth in the 1600 meters (4:41.2), and Jim McQuade, seventh in the 3200 meters.

"We didn't field a full team here," Bunting said. "I gave the boys my word we would be off Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The weather messed everything up, but I couldn't go back on my word, so we had to go with only 13 boys here."

The meet was originally scheduled for Thursday, but poor weather caused the meet to be postponed until Saturday.

Madison's Lewis leaped 6'4" to tie for third place in the high jump. The Trojans' 800 meter relay team, Willie Ball, Ken Briggs, Tim Prothro and Charles Fuller was third with a time of 1:35.7.

TROJANS THIRD AMONG A'S

The Trojans had the third best score of the seven Class A schools in the meet. Lebanon had 25 points and was the top small school at the meet. Freeburg had 9.5 points, and Madison had 9 points.

Lincoln won three of the five relays, and East St. Louis took the other two relays.

TEAM STANDINGS

Lewis sets new record

MADISON — Madison High School has a new school record to decorate their track and field record book thanks to the efforts of John Lewis.

Lewis, a junior, set a new school record in the high jump, leaping 6-feet-4 at the Mineral Area meet Saturday. His effort erased the old record of 6'2 1/2, set in 1957 by Larry Griggs.

Lewis' performance came as no surprise to Charles Steptoe, Madison head coach. "He's jumped 6'2 before. He just missed 6'6. We were expecting him to break the record sooner or later," Steptoe said. "We were hoping he'd do it this year. He's a hard worker."

"I was very pleased with his performance. I feel he's improving and that's good."

At the Mineral Area meet, Lewis missed the 6-feet-4 mark by only one-half of an inch. Steptoe expects him to clear that height soon.

Lewis, who also participates in the long jump and triple jump, had hurt his knee in gym class a couple of weeks ago. Steptoe said he has fully recovered from the injury.

Lewis' record ranks him among the top five high jumpers in Illinois Class A competition.

Cougars acquire new talent

EDWARDSVILLE

Monica Bridgde, a four-time qualifier to the Illinois State High School Girls Tennis Championships from Quincy's Notre Dame High School, has become the first recruit of the season to sign with the tennis Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Head Coach Bob Meyers.

Bridgde, who was selected as the most valuable player on her high school squad after the fall portion of the 1980 season, joins the Cougars in the wake of their second state championship in the past three years.

Ranked in the top five of the Middle Illinois Tennis District since she was 12 years old, Bridgde has claimed four state tournament berths by collecting fourth-place honors in the district meet as a freshman, third place as a sophomore second place as a junior, and winning the district championship last year as the Raiders' number one singles player. She has also competed for the Junior Varsityman Cup Team, and she played in the Western Open in Indianapolis, Ind. in 1980.

Bridgde also made Quincy tennis history in the summer of 1980 as she captured the Open Division of the Coca-Cola City Tournament, joining Kathy Kewney of the University of Illinois as the only players ever to win the 16-year-old, 18-year-old and open divisions.

The Cougars, who regained the Illinois Intercollegiate title last fall by outdistancing the defending champions from Eastern Illinois University, will make a strong run at the AIAW regional title when they host the Midwest Regionals, May 14-15. The Cougars will also make their mark in two national championships this season.

as they host the NCAA Division II Championships, May 17-21, and compete in the AIAW Championships, May 27-29.

Weather defeats area baseball teams

Granite City North, Granite City South, and Madison all lost baseball games to a common opponent last week — the weather.

Both North's game at Edwardsville Thursday and with the Trojans Friday were postponed because of the snow and poor field conditions.

Granite City South traveled to Paducah, Ky., Thursday for a tournament. After the Warriors arrived, the tournament was cancelled because of rain.

"The same storm system that came through here also came through Paducah, but it was a little warmer so we got rain," South coach John Modica said. "Even if it the field was dry, the temperature and wind would have made it hard to play."

The Warriors, idle since

April 1 and 4-2-1 on the season, play a double-header at Edwardsville Monday. The Steelers, 2-4, play at Alton Tuesday. Madison doesn't play until Thursday when the Trojans travel to Livingston.

Polish Hall wins

The Tri-City Area YMCA Saturday Night Co-Ed Volleyball league came to an exciting finish Saturday, March 26. The Polish Hall team took the first place position, with a 25 and 5 record.

The Holdovers and Jacobsmeyers found themselves in a double look for second place with an 18 and 12 record. A best two out of three series was played to determine the second place winner. Jacobsmeyers won two in a row, taking second place and moving the Holdovers to third place.

The Rookies took fourth place, followed by the limitations and the Recruits in fifth and sixth places.

In the tournament that followed the regular season, consisting of the first four teams, Polish Hall took the championship trophy.

Softball, baseball registration

Children wishing to participate in the Mitchell Park and Athletic Association's summer boys' baseball and girls' softball leagues should register April 12 and 13, at the Mitchell School gymnasium.

Boys, ages 7 through 13, and girls, 7 through 15, are welcomed to register. Registration is not restricted to children from Mitchell.

The Association welcomes children from the Quad-City area to participate.

Registration will last from 6 to 8 p.m. There is a $10 registration fee per child. For more information contact Myron Merz at 931-1218.

Area coaches critique spring sports, weather

By TERESA GULL

GRANITE CITY — "It's just like starting over."

After last week's adverse weather conditions, lyrics to the late John Lennon's song, "Starting Over," are especially fitting for area coaches. The coaches realize the past week of snow, rain, bitter cold and strong winds have pushed performances backward.

All is not bad, however. The season is young, enabling the teams to rebuild for the important conference and district competitions. Also, all of the area teams faced the same weather problems.

Still, a little sunshine and to degree temperatures would have been a welcome relief last week. Here are the comments of area baseball, softball and track and field coaches about last week's weather.

Granite North Steelers

GCN BASEBALL

Last week, North's practice and game schedule went like this:

Monday, they tried to practice but the rain and cold made it impossible. Tuesday, their game was cancelled but they still practiced outside but not on the diamond. Wednesday, their game was snowed out. Thursday, their game was cancelled because of snow but they had batting and pitching practice by side. Friday, another game was cancelled. Saturday, they had an intersquad game.

The situation was not at all encouraging for head coach Bob Stegmeyer and his squad. "As far as playing, it was a wasted week. I don't know how much we accomplished in it. We need to get some kind of consistency with practicing and playing."

"Last week was ridiculous as far as cold and snow. It's depressing for the kids. It's hard to keep the enthusiasm up when you look out the window and see snow in April."

Pitching is the area Stegmeyer feels will suffer the most from the layoff. Although the pitchers' three innings batters, experience they would have gained by pitching in games last week.

With a 3-0 record in the Gateway East Conference, Stegmeyer's prime concern is continuing to win conference games. He won't have to wait long to see how the team does. Tuesday, they play a nonconference game against Alton and Thursday, they play

Belleville Alton in a conference game.

GCN BASEBALL
South thought they could avoid the area's cold weather by heading south to a tournament in Paducah, Ky. The weather in Paducah, however, was cold and rainy, the tournament was cancelled and South found themselves off for the week too.

For John Modica, South's head coach, the layoff couldn't have come at a more inopportune time. Before the game winning streak.

"We got off to a pretty good start," Modica said. "It's very depressing to me to have bad weather. It makes practicing more difficult."

"It will be hard getting back in the groove of baseball again and getting everybody thinking the same way."

Modica feels South's offensive attack will be hurt the most by the break, as Paskus said.

"I'm sure, especially with a lot of younger players, it had to give us a lot of confidence and a good attitude," Lignoul said.

This past week, the team did take batting practice inside, hitting off of a pitching machine. With the main gym being closed for the rest of the school year because of roof problems, the rest of their practice drills were limited situations, where they would practice throwing the ball to the correct base.

Lignoul intends to stress game situations in the first few days of practice to get the kids thinking about softball strategy again. Still, he feels the layoff will have its effects.

"When we play, I think we're going to make some mistakes that if we could have practiced, wouldn't have happened," Lignoul said.

GCN TRACK
Mel Bunting, South's head coach, didn't have any kind of thoughts about last week's cold and snowy weather.

"As for last week, it was a complete mess," Bunting said. "Our time would have been better spent downhill skiing, ice skating or ski jumping. It has been a mess."

Last week, Bunting had practices scheduled through Wednesday, with a meet on Thursday. He told his team they could have Friday, Saturday and Sunday off.

Mother Nature had other ideas, however. Thursday's meet was cancelled.

GCN SOFTBALL
For head coach Gus Lignoul and his young team, it will be three days of reviewing fundamentals before North plays Belleville Alton Thursday.

Overall, Paskus expects to see a general lack of sharpness in their play. After a few practices and games, however, he expects the team to regain its form.

"I'm not sure how much we're going to lose. It's going to be tough for us Thursday," Lignoul said. "When the layoff is that long, it's hard to get back into the rhythm."

The last time North played was Thursday, April 1, when they beat Edwardsville in a come-from-behind victory. Last year, North only won one game the entire season. After only playing two games, they have already equalled last year's win record. Lignoul finds that encouraging.

"I'm sure, especially with a lot of younger players, it had to give us a lot of confidence and a good attitude," Lignoul said.

Sports of All Sorts

By AL BARNES

An event long overdue has a good chance of taking place next August at Busch Stadium in a night game between the San Francisco Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals.

It will be a night to honor John (Champ) Summers, now a member of the Giants and a standout athlete born and raised in Madison and with roots deep here in the Quad-Cities.

A basketball star at both Madison High and at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Champ came late to the sports of hardball, or baseball. He was a brilliant softball (fast-pitch variety) player, but had played very little, if any, hardball until his senior year at SIUE.

Going into his senior year with the Cougars he was looking forward to a great basketball season to close out his collegiate career. He and another Tri-City native, Rich Jennings of Venice, had combined their great talents to give the Cougars their first winning basketball season.

During the summer of 1971,

SIUE varsity basketball coach, the Old Gray Fox, Roy E. Lee, now retired, had decided to hold Fall baseball drills.

This reporter suggested to Summers that he go out for the Cougars baseball team. But, just imagine my utter and complete surprise, when Champ said: "Why, Mr. Barnes, I wouldn't have a ghost of a chance to make that squad." When he saw the look of complete surprise on my face, he explained: "You see, I haven't played any hardball in my life."

Fortunately, Champ was talked into trying out and he ended up making the squad and, by the end of the next spring season, he had nailed down a spot in the SIUE lineup and led the Cougars in many categories: most runs batted in, hits, doubles, slugging honors, and the best record in the field, with only two errors.

Joint sponsors of the 'Night for Champ Summers' will be the Granite City Rotary Club and the Southwestern Illinois Semi-Pro Civics baseball club.

Mark Goldenberg, who is chairman of the Granite City Rotary Club's committee to honor the area, has agreed to attempt to work out the details to help sponsor the event.

The night and date tentatively agreed upon will be Friday night, August 20th. Tickets will cost $5.50.

A great job, fellows and gals who worked it all out! Incidentally, the Giants are playing Champ at first base. It's not a new position for him, though. In addition to his patrolling right field for the Cougars, he was used at first base, where his play was without an error.

And, in conclusion, we know that all local fans join this reporter in wishing Champ success in making the switch from the American League (last year with the Detroit Tigers) to the National League.

I for one, am betting that he'll make it and, by the end of the campaign he'll be batting against all kinds of hurling.

Cahokia Mounds: a great wonder of the world?

Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site in southwestern Illinois may soon take its place next to the great wonders of the world, a distinction that could mean a whole new future for the only prehistoric Indian city north of Mexico.

Last December Cahokia Mounds was selected as the U.S. nomination to the World Heritage List, an international system of recognizing and preserving outstanding natural and cultural resources. If added to the list by the 21-nation World Heritage Committee, Cahokia Mounds would rank with Mt. Everest, the Great Pyramid of Cheops, the Grand Canyon and 106 other international landmarks by this fall. Cahokia's nomination marks the first time a state-managed site has been considered for the prestigious list.

17th Slavic conference on Apr. 24

Slavic and East European Friends of SIUE will hold their 17th annual conference Saturday, April 24.

A program of folk songs and dances will open the conference at 4 p.m. in the Communications Building theater. The conference dinner is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. in the Mississippi and Illinois Rooms of the University Center.

Keynote speaker for the evening will be Bronislaw Misztal from the Academy of Sciences in Warsaw, Poland, Professor Misztal, a visiting professor of sociology at Washington University, will discuss "Social and Cultural Life in Poland Today."

Ethnic foods to be served during the meal include: Gulereta z Ryby (fish aspic), Grayby (a Silesian (mushrooms in sour cream), Kartoffel's Kopern (potato with dill), Szklita Miesza 2 Chrasent (top sirloin roast with horseradish sauce) and Searloka (Pope John Paul II's favorite apple pie).

The annual business meeting and election of officers will follow the dinner.

Entertainment will include selections by Marianne Kossakowska Szydlowska and the Buttonbox Club of St. Louis.

Dinner tickets are $12 per person and may be reserved by contacting Marie Pass at the SIUE Lovejoy Library by telephoning 682-2900 or 655-3983.

Slavic costumes and memorabilia will be on exhibit in the Center West of Lovejoy Library from April 24 to May 24.

TELEPHONE POLE REPORTED TAKEN

An eight-foot section of a telephone pole was cut up and taken from an Illinois Power Station Substation at Maryville Road and Route 162, it was reported Monday.

A fence leading into the area was damaged.

Worldwide recognition for Cahokia Mounds could draw more visitors to southwestern Illinois, thus boosting tourism revenues, a goal of Illinois, Inc., the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) new economic development and promotional program.

About the Mounds
The 1,300-acre historic site near Collinsville is a collection of 100 prehistoric mounds built by a sophisticated Indian society that mysteriously disappeared around 1500 A.D. Evidence uncovered at the site suggests Cahokia was first populated about 700 A.D. by Indians of the Woodland culture. They were primarily hunters and gatherers, although they did cultivate some crops.

The Mississippi culture, so called because their culture was first discovered along the Mississippi River, inhabited the area around 850 A.D. The Mississippian Indians were heavy cultivators and supplemented their crops with hunting and fishing. Cahokia flourished for the next 450 years before it began its decline around 1200 A.D. at least 20,000-40,000 people lived in the city with an additional 30,000 in surrounding villages.

About the Indians
Cahokia's inhabitants were able engineers with a strong understanding of astronomy. An observatory, given the name Woodhenge, is very similar to the famous Stonehenge in Scotland. And a defensive stockade believed to have been rebuilt three times required 50,000 logs.

Perhaps the most incredible feature of Cahokia are the mounds, earthen structures built primarily for religious ceremonies. The largest, Monk's Mound, covers 14 acres and rises in four terraces to 100 feet. A massive building once stood on the highest terrace. Excavation of Mound 72 revealed nearly ceremonial and sacrificial burials in mass graves. The centerpiece is the grave of a prominent ruler laid on a marine shell disc beads. He is surrounded by attendants apparently slain to serve him in the next world.

The name Cahokia comes from the Cahokia Indians of the Illini nation who immigrated to the area in the late 1600s.

According to Jim Anderson, site superintendent at Cahokia, placement on the World Heritage List would give Cahokia Mounds world recognition and might result in new sources of funding, allowing the historic site to implement changes.

A master plan approved by the Illinois Department of Conservation several years ago calls for a move away from recreational uses and places more stress on interpretation. High on the list is a new interpretive center and recreation of a portion of the ancient city showing typical dwellings, gardens, plazas and ceremonial areas.

Restoring the Site
"For years Cahokia was managed as a park with playgrounds, picnic areas and camping," Anderson said. "Our prime mission now is to interpret the site as it might have been 800 or 900 years ago."

Anderson added that visitors are still welcome and some recreational facilities remain. Camping is expected to be available at nearby Horseshoe Lake State Park this summer. Visitors may explore the site on their own daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or take a guided tour by appointment. During summer, guided tours of the excavation areas are usually scheduled each morning and afternoon from June to August.

An annual feature of the site is the archaeological field school conducted in two-week sessions during the summer for non-professional archeological buffs and students. Summer workshops on topics ranging from flint-working to Indian dance are also held.

Cooper ordered to serve prison term

John Cooper of Granite City, former chief of field operations for former Madison County Sheriff John Maeras of Madison, was ordered Thursday to report to federal prison this week to begin serving his 15-year sentence on a racketeering conviction.

Cooper and Maeras were convicted Feb. 25, 1979, by a federal court jury in Alton of participating in a RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization) and with conspiracy to obtain payoffs from tow truck services and houses of prostitution.

Maeras also received a 15-year prison sentence, but was excused from serving it by U.S. District Judge J. Waldo Ackerman, who received testimony from two doctors who say that Maeras is dying from cancer and could not receive adequate medical treatment while in prison. Cooper sought to be excused from serving his sentence on the basis that his conviction has left him severely depressed and with suicidal tendencies. Cooper's wife and a psychiatrist testified as to his mental state.

U.S. Attorney Gerald Pines argued that to excuse Cooper from serving his sentence would be unfair to others who were lesser involved but have already completed their sentences and paroles.

Judge Ackerman took the motion under advisement and ruled last Thursday that Cooper must report to the Bureau of Prisons this Thursday, April 15, for assignment to a prison.

Cooper and Maeras also were convicted of conspiring to skim money from the now-defunct Madison County Sheriff's Association. Convicted with them were Leland Stoller of Nashville, Tenn., a professional fundraiser, and his firm, Lee Stoller Enterprises.

Stoller, husband of popular country singer Christy Lane, conducted fund-raising activities for the deputies' group, including dances, advertising books and other events.

Stoller's motion for reduction of his sentence is to be heard later this month.

HONORARY GIRL SCOUT. A special gift for Honorary Girl Scout Kasey Baum is presented to her mother, Karen Baum. Kasey was born at 7:30 a.m. on Girl Scout Day, March 12, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, and was presented with a quilt made by Brownie Troop 427 of Marshall School and their leader, Rachael Modglin. Mrs. Baum is right at home, since she works as a registered nurse on the maternity floor at St. Elizabeth.

Honor first baby of Girl Scout Week

Brownie Troop 427 from Marshall School made a quilt with the help of leader, Rachael Modglin. The quilt was presented to the first baby girl born at St. Elizabeth Medical Center on Girl Scout Day, March 12. She was Kasey Baum, 7 pound, 4 ounce daughter of Russell and Karen Baum.

Students who helped make the quilt were Kellie Gregory, Tanya Mitchell, Suzanne Bravley, Mindy Beyer, Casey Weeks, Starlene Modglin, Anita Guenther, Erin Beyer, Brigitta Modglin, Angela Guenther, Betty Downs, Mabel Johnson and Lori Laboratory.

Textbook, athletic fees at SIUE rise

A $1.35 increase in the athletic fee and increases of $3 to $8 in the textbook rental fee for students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The increases for textbook rental will be effective summer quarter and the increase for the support of athletics will be effective fall quarter.

At present, the athletic fee is $7 for students enrolled for one to five hours; $13 for six to 10 hours and $19 for 11 or more hours. The increase of $1.35 in each category will generate approximately $45,000 to be used to maintain salary increases granted in the current fiscal year; to provide funds to offset the University's increase in tuition, fees, and housing and to provide additional support for the men's intercollegiate basketball program. University officers believe the basketball program will help reduce dependence on student fee support when the new Multipurpose Building becomes operational.

It was originally recommended at the March 11 Board of Trustees meeting that the athletic fee be increased by $3 in each category. The lower figure approved by the board Thursday does not provide for salary increases or general price increase revenue for Fiscal Year 1983, in accordance with the allocation of the governor's budget approved Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

At present, the athletic fee is the major income source for the intercollegiate athletic program at the university. Of the total 1981-82 intercollegiate athletic budget of $705,392, approximately $507,730 is projected athletic fee income. The fee was last increased by $3 in each of the three fee categories in 1979-80.

The increases in the textbook rental fees are the first since 1978, and the university officers state that additional revenue is necessary to maintain the textbook rental system. The textbook rental charge increases vary according to the number of classes in which students are enrolled. The increases are: one to five hours, from the current $4 to $7; six to 11 hours, from the current $7 to $13; and 12 hours or more, from the current $10 to $18.

Arrest for alleged gasoline siphoning

Gasoline siphoning usually takes place after dark in an isolated location, making discovery and arrest difficult. But police believe they caught an individual "in the act" at 1:30 a.m. Friday in the 2700 block of W. 22nd Street.

It is contended that fuel was siphoned from a parked pickup truck owned by a nearby resident, John Gill. Captured at an open auto trunk and with a plastic container full of gasoline was Gary W. Summers, 22, of 2814 W. 22nd, officers allege. They released a 15-year-old boy to the boy's mother.

Taken to the police building on a charge of petty theft, Summers posted $22 cash bail at 3:10 a.m. and was released pending a hearing.

Weddings

Gray-Walden

Miss Vickie Lynn Price became the bride of David Alan Page, Feb. 20, in an evening ceremony at the Wood River Missionary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Bob Pool officiated at the 6 o'clock double ring service. Musical selections, "The Wedding Song," "If," and "Endless Love," were provided by Dottie Robins and Cheryl Pool, pianists. Soloists were Doug Ferguson and Dottie Robins.

Candlelighters included Theresa Price, a sister of the bride, and Lenny Whiteside. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce L. Price, 209 Meadowlane, Mitchell.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Page, 817 Center St.

For her wedding the bride chose a full length white silk gown, designed with a Queen Anne neckline, accented with lace which was repeated on the long full sleeves.

An accordion played music enhanced the front of the semi full skirt that extended into a chapel train.

She wore a long veil, edged with embroidered lace flowers, and her bouquet was an arrangement of pink roses centered with a white orchid.

Attending the bride were Michelle Rott, Pam Damrath, Veronica Anderson and Laura Rhea, a cousin of the bride.

Jamie and Corey Wallace, a niece and nephew of the groom, served as the flower girl and ring bearer.

The groom chose Richard Kindie, as best man. Dennis Daryl and Dale Page, and Joe Price, brothers of the couple, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Jamie Linders of Wood River, and Irene McEntee of Philadelphia, Pa., a cousin of the bride, attended the guest book at a reception held at the VFW Hall in Wood River.

Both young people are graduates of North High School. The former Miss Price is employed at C.P.I. as an administrative secretary. The groom is a traveling studio installer and foreman of special events at C.P.I.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to California.

Burning tapers in tall candelabra illuminated the sanctuary of the First United Presbyterian Church for the wedding on March 27 of Miss Melissa Dawn Walden and Richard Gray Jr.

The Rev. David Maxton officiated at a double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon before an altar banked with arrangements of apricot daisies and mums with white carnations and snapdragons interspersed with baby's breath.

Organist Isabell Schmidt accompanied the singing, "Sunrise, Sunset," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Walden Sr., of Granite City, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray Sr., of Fayetteville, N.C.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice and Chantilly lace bishop sleeves, edged with seed pearls.

The back and sides of the full skirt was designed with tiers of Chantilly lace and chiffon, edged with matching lace.

The bride's fingertip veil bordered with lace attached to a lace Juliet cap embellished with pearls. Her bridal bouquet was made up with white roses and baby's breath, laced with white ribbon and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray

Sisters of the bride Miss Deborah Walden and Mrs. Stephanie Edgington, served as maid of honor and bridesmaid.

They were attired in floor length copper color gowns fashioned with pleated skirts and complemented with fitted jackets enhanced with a lace trim.

Each attendant carried a nosegay of roses in a copper hues, tiger lilies and white baby's breath. They wore matching floral circlets in their hair.

The groom was attended by Wade West of Houston, Texas, as best man. Gary Edgington was the groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Walden selected a gown with ivory bodice trimmed with lace, long sleeves and a full circular skirt of coral giana. The groom's mother chose a formal gown with long fitted sleeves in an aqua giana. Both mothers wore corsages of copper color rosebuds and baby's breath.

Out of town guests and family members were received at a reception following the wedding. The newlywed couple are residing in Houston following a wedding trip in the Caribbean.

Lambda Theta to meet Saturday

Lambda Theta Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi will meet on Saturday, April 17, at Rustoli's Restaurant, Junction of I-70 and Highway 157 in Collinsville. The business meeting will commence at 11 a.m.

A report on the Art Show and Sale held in February will be given and the Best of Show plaque and certificate will be awarded to John Welker, a Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville undergraduate.

In addition, the Past President's Pin will be presented to Janet Green, and Dr. Regan Carpenter, KDP advisor, will report on the convocation held in San Antonio, Texas.

At noon a chicken luncheon will be served, followed by a talk on art history by Eric Barnett.

For reservations, call 618-656-4984.

TEXAS U. BUSINESS COLLEGE HONOR ROLL

The University of Texas (Austin) has named 1,155 students to the 1981 fall semester honor roll in the College of Business Administration, including Gilbert Thomas Barborak, a resident of the Granite City Army installation.

To qualify for the business administration honor roll, a student must have carried 12 or more semester hours of graded work, passing all courses, and have completed at least six hours of A and above average in all courses taken.

Manzo-Grant

The wedding of Miss Judith Anne Grant and Michael Alan Manzo was solemnized on March 6 at the Namoki United Presbyterian Church.

A program of selected wedding music was provided by Organist Laura Spudich.

The Rev. Don Pierson performed the 7 o'clock evening ceremony in a candlelight setting.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Joseph A. Grant, 2104 Garfield Ave., and the late Joseph A. Grant. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Manzo, 4611 Forest Blvd., Washington Park.

For her wedding, the former Miss Grant selected an old fashioned style ivory crepe gown fashioned with a molded bodice enhanced with Chantilly lace, etched with pearls, and a high neckline.

The decorative lace was repeated on the long tapered sleeves, and the floor length skirt was slightly full.

She wore a Venise lace headpiece accented with pearls and carried a lace covered bible, belonging to her mother and grandmother, topped with a cluster of white and yellow silk rosebuds.

Matron of Honor Phyllis Spenberger, a cousin of the bride, selected a formal teal Chantilly lace over taffeta dress. The fitted bodice featured a round neckline edged with a ruffled trim and the sunburst pleated skirt was accented with a satin belt at the natural waistline.

She held a hurricane lamp with peach, teal and yellow silk blossoms surrounding the peach color candle.

Steve Crels of St. Louis, attended the groom as best man.

Guests were received at a dinner reception held at Reuben's Restaurant in St. Louis.

Mrs. Michael Manzo

The newlywed couple honeymooned in Fort Meyers Beach, Fla., and are now residing in Granite City.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is owner of Merle Norman's Cosmetic Studio in the Montclair Shopping Center in Edwardsville. The groom works at Siemens Corp., West Port Plaza, St. Louis, and is the drummer and leader of his own band known as "The All Occasions."

Second child for Charles Murphys

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Murphys, 1409 Franklin, Collinsville, former residents are announcing the birth of their second child, a boy, on March 31 at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

The new arrival has been named Clayton Thomas and he weighed seven pounds, six and a half ounces. He has a 3-year old sister, Betha Murphys.

Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Lois Bethel of Collinsville, Mrs. Barbara Murphys, Granite City, and the late Thomas Murphys.

GC COUPLE ARE MOVING TO MO.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionell Portell, longtime residents of Granite City, are in the process of moving from this area to St. Peters, Mo., this month.

Their mailing address will be 33 Craig Martin Drive, St. Charles, Mo. 63301. They will welcome letters from friends and relatives in this area, according to Mrs. Portell.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Tepfer

Tepfer-Monical

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Laura Anne Monical, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Monical, 5 Hanson Drive, and Nick D. Tepfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle P. Tepfer, 2283 Paul St., in an afternoon ceremony on March 13 at Suburban Baptist Church.

The Rev. Harold Garrett, pastor, assisted by William R. Monical, performed a double ring service at 3 o'clock.

Maria Valon sang, "Endless Love," "The Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Kevin Connors at the organ.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Monical wore a white chiffon over taffeta A-line style gown created with an empire bodice, V-neckline and tapered sleeves, accented with Wedgewood and Venise lace.

Tiers of lace ruffles enhanced the back of the hemline.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, trimmed with seed pearls to mark the scallop edges, was secured to a Chantilly lace and pearl Juliet cap. She held a semi cascade of gardenias, roses, and forget-me-nots intermingled with baby's breath.

Erin McKeehan, honor attendant, and bridesmaids, Susan Harris and Pamela Hunter, cousins of the bride, were gowned in long blue chiffon over taffeta dresses.

Leslye Whaling

Elbert-Whaling

The engagement of U.S. Air Force Captain Leslye J. Whaling and U.S. Air Force Master Sergeant Richard B. Elbert is being announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Whaling, 2803 Edwardsville Road.

He is the son of Oscar B. Elbert Jr. of Jeffersonville, Ky., and the late Mrs. Elbert.

Captain Whaling graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, in 1977 with a Masters Degree in Counseling. She is presently with Headquarters Squadron Commander, 26 Combat Support Group, Zweibrücken Air Force Base, Germany.

Her fiancé is Kennel Master with the 26 Narcotics Security Police Squadron at the Zweibrücken Air Force Base in Germany.

The betrothed couple are completing plans for a May 28 wedding to take place in the chapel on the Air Force Base in Germany.

Philippe-Bevis

Former Granite City residents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bevis, who now reside in Worden, Ill., are announcing the betrothal and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Deborah R. Bevis, to Richard Louis Philippe of Livingston, Ill.

Miss Bevis attended Granite City Schools and was a freshman student at North High School before moving to Worden in 1977. She is a 1980 Staunton High School graduate and currently is enrolled as a junior student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Her fiancé was graduated in 1979 from Livingston High School and in 1981 from Ranken Technical Institute. He works at Trionics in Highland.

Plans are being made by the engaged couple for a June 11, 1983, wedding.

Richard Philippe and Deborah Bevis

Martin Reeves and Patricia Newman

Reeves-Newman

Mr. and Mrs. William Newman of Glen Carbon are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Patricia Newman to Martin Reeves, son of Mrs. Ann B. Reeves of Granite City, and the late Amos Reeves.

Miss Newman is a 1981 graduate of Edwardsville High School and is employed at the Eden Village Care Center in Glen Carbon.

The prospective groom works at Herman Oak Leather Co., in St. Louis, and was graduated from Granite City High School South in 1976.

Plans are being completed by the betrothed couple for a June 26 wedding to be solemnized at St. Cecilia Catholic Church in Glen Carbon.

Resource Guide booklet is available

The 1982 Resource Guide to Goods and Services for Older Homes is available for those contemplating a spring spruce-up for their home now that winter has passed. The Resource Guide could be just the thing needed to cut through some of the "Where do I start? Who do I contact?" questions which plague practically all home owners. The guide lists services ranging from alarms and antiques to plumbers and tuckpointers to windows and woodstoves. A special feature of this year's edition is the coupon section good for reductions on a variety of household goods and services.

Persons listed in the Resource Guide were recommended by neighborhood groups or individuals who own older homes and have found the contractors to be reliable. The publication is free and is available at Neighborhood Marketing Services, 818 Olive St., Suite 951, St. Louis. Mo. If you would like a copy sent to your home, send one dollar ($1.00) to cover handling and mailing costs and if your neighborhood organization or block unit would like to receive multiple copies, call Neighborhood Marketing Services at 241-9630, for arrangements.

ARE YOU SAFE IN YOUR OWN HOME?

It's not hard to imagine that accidents happen on the highway, on the job, in the sports, or in some perilous avocation—but what could be safer than one's own living room? Yet, statistics show that one out of every five back injury accidents occurs in the home.

The tragic fact about the high number of accidents that happen in the home is that the majority could have been prevented with a moderate amount of precaution and good sense.

Do not try to carry loads that are awkward or too heavy for you to handle. Heavy lifting can be dangerous, so get assistance. And remember—should you hurt your back, seek professional attention from your doctor or chiropractic immediately. He seeks to not only locate the problem and give relief from symptoms, but also to correct the fundamental cause and offer preventive, rehabilitation, and maintenance counsel. Under chiropractic care, a patient is either treated or referred after a comprehensive differential diagnosis.

GC Steel's help to city is especially noteworthy in view of the firm's necessary preoccupation with funds

Granite City Steel is receiving deserved praise for its $1,700,000 contribution to the 19th Street overpass fund and its willingness to waive any claim to the $500,000 balance in that account.

The city is hard-pressed financially, and the decision by the GC Steel Division will aid the local municipality—fearful of drowning in bills and "red ink"—in keeping its nose above the surface of that "flood."

The stand by National Steel Corporation and its division regarding local dollars is even more impressive to us after our perusal of the annual report to the stockholders. Like other major steelmakers, the firm has diverse problems and challenges that all seem to have a common denominator—money.

And after the writing had been completed on the yearly report, setting the stage for it to be printed and distributed, the justified focus on finances was shared further.

Chairman and President Howard M. Love, a former president of the Granite City Steel Division, announced in March that National will substantially limit its future capital investments at its Weirton (W. V.) Division.

Love said he is "hopful that employee ownership can be worked out before the end of this year." The price for the corporation and fair to the employees at Weirton.

With 11,500 workers, Weirton Steel is West Virginia's largest single employer and taxpayer. It is unusual for a facility of that size to be considered for employee ownership—particularly a facility that, by its nature, requires extensive working capital and mammoth equipment expenditures.

Although the plan in many ways is unique, there is optimism regarding its success; and it is a fact that a worker-owned plant is eligible for certain special tax benefits that would increase its cash flow.

National has invested large sums there to keep pace with technological breakthroughs and to maintain an estimated half-billion in additional capital spending at Weirton over the next five years, including $150 million to meet federal air quality standards. The plant has modern basic oxygen furnaces, continuous slab casting and the world's most advanced computer-controlled cold rolling mill.

Ernest T. Weir in 1909 chose the area for a sheet and tin mill; 20 years later, he merged the mill with two others to form National Steel, now the nation's fourth largest steel producer.

The Wall Street Journal said last week that "employee ownership is the most attractive alternative," especially when taking into account the pension liability; the average Weirton worker has been on the job for 20 years.

Overall, National Steel's unfunded pensions—the difference between its pension fund's assets and its pension liabilities—amounted to $222 million on Dec. 31, 1981.

Chairman Love said the Weirton decision is part of National Steel's "ongoing effort to direct capital funds to areas of higher return for its stockholders."

"Not the result of economic conditions," (the sale proposal) responds to a strategic plan that has been under development for some time. Our goal is to provide substantially improved consistent returns to stockholders in the future.

"We believe employee ownership of the Weirton Division is a viable option for meeting our responsibilities not only to our stockholders but also to Weirton Steel's employees, Weirton and surrounding communities, and our customers."

"In addition to meeting our corporate and social responsibilities, it would enable Weirton and all of National's steel divisions to continue their long-term supply relationships and commitments with our customers without any interruption."

"Weirton has been marginally profitable in the past five years. It has the potential for significant improvement under employee ownership, which would give Weirton the opportunity to obtain advantageous loans to meet the plant's spending requirements. These types of loans are not available to National Steel."

"It is not economically feasible for National to commit large amounts of capital at Weirton; funds would have to be diverted from other projects throughout the corporation which have the potential for substantially higher returns than at Weirton."

"Employee ownership could not only strengthen Weirton but also enable National to strengthen its other divisions and subsidiaries."

Regarding Granite City Steel, the newly-issued annual report for 1981 relates that "even though capital expenditures were lower than in previous years," National's "third continuous caster was brought into production at GC Steel. These casters now enable the corporation to cast over 55 percent of its steel slabs."

"Davin Guardiola, GC Steel continuous caster foreman, says, 'Converting 250 tons of liquid steel into a continuous slab every 40 minutes takes real teamwork. There are hundreds of items on our checklists that must be done right during each cast. Our customers need the highest quality steel we can provide. We benefit from a 10 percent energy saving and a 15 percent increase in yield. That's what I call progress.'"

"Work proceeded on adapting the basic oxygen furnaces at GC and Great Lakes Steel to the higher quality and more efficient top and bottom-blowing processes."

"Improvements in the corporation's debt-equity ratio from 36 to 31 percent, and better profit margins resulting from operating efficiencies achieved in 1981, should enhance the corporation's liquidity."

Spending for capital projects in 1982 could total $230 million; in addition, National is committed to invest $235 million in financial services subsidiary in 1982 and in each of the following two years.

"Funds required to support these and other ongoing programs, including scheduled debt retirements, are expected to be provided from four sources, including proceeds from the proposed leveraged sale of a coke battery under construction at Granite City Steel."

"The other sources are: internally generated funds; proceeds from pollution control bonds sold in 1981 pending completion of projects for which they were issued; and, as necessary, funds available under a revolving credit agreement."

As noted earlier in this comment, the topics of money and steel seem to be inextricably intertwined. Love puts what lies ahead in the following way:

"We earned $4.59 a share in 1981, compared with $4.42 a share in 1980. "While National's 1981 performance does not meet our long-term goals, considering the many adverse economic factors that impacted us during the year, we were gratified by the manner in which these earnings were achieved."

"Steel operations were improved by $100 million, more than compensating for the non-recurring gains which so heavily aided 1980 results."

"More important for the longer term, National's 1981 results confirm that the corporation's strategies are taking hold and that the goals set for the years ahead are realistic and attainable."

"The corporation's mission is to provide superior and consistent financial returns to its stockholders. To support this mission, key strategies have been adopted:

"1. Our existing lines of business will be managed to provide a competitive return on their invested capital. Those businesses will be expanded that have good prospects for contribution to National's financial performance; those that cannot demonstrate either cash-generating capabilities or solid growth prospects will be reduced or diversified."

"2. Further diversification is an important mid-term requirement to National's goal of providing consistently superior returns to its stockholders. It will be accomplished in a manner consistent with the mission and overall financial strategy."

As mentioned, Chairman Love has close ties to Granite City. Directors include Nicholas P. Veeder, former GC Steel chairman. He, Love and retired (as of April 1, 1981) National Steel Chairman George E. Silinson are on the five-member executive committee, headed by Silinson. Veeder also serves on the corporation's personnel and compensation committee.

Officers in addition to Love include George Pallares, group vice-president for steel fabricating products; G. Watts Humphrey Jr., vice-president for marketing and sales; and Robert D. McBride, Great Lakes Steel Division president. All three formerly played major roles at GC Steel, whose current president is James V. Slack.

Such individuals and many thousands of Quad-Cityans join in the hopes for 1982 and beyond outlined by H. M. Love. His viewpoint:

"Steel demand and prices continue very high, and the same is true for aluminum. High interest rates continue to have an adverse impact on our financial services business, as well as on the markets for steel and aluminum products."

"However, progress already made in reducing costs and lowering our break-even point leave us better equipped to cope with 'down markets' and to take full advantage of the improvement in the general economy which is anticipated later in 1982."

"Underlying everything is the fact that this report is my deep sense of appreciation for the employees, who have come through two difficult years with undiminished enthusiasm and a determination to parlay the success of the strategies to change National Steel Corporation for the better."

"I am optimistic about National's future because of the quality of National's people. I am proud to be one of them."

Administrator to be selected on April 20

An administrator is likely to be hired by the Granite City Board of Education at its meeting on Tuesday night, April 20. He will work with Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, between the hiring and Rea's retirement on June 30.

The position of supervisor of supplemental services attracted considerable interest inside and outside the school district, and both types of applicants were interviewed last week.

Following the interviews, School Board members briefly discussed the applicants and also the specific duties that will be assigned to the position. No final decisions were made.

After the role of the supplemental services supervisor has been defined and the position filled, administrative work not otherwise designated will be apportioned among specific school district officials.

Tentative plans are to have the new administrator do some of the tasks performed by Rea and also some of the work for which Financial Director Norman Owca is responsible.

RESISTING ARREST

Carl E. Hozian, 2828 Denver St., was charged at 10:30 p.m. Friday with resisting arrest after officers were called to a hit and run accident on Denver Street. Hozian pushed, shoved and tried to kick officers investigating the accident. He was taken to the police department and later released on bond.

16-YEAR-OLD FINED

A 16-year-old Granite Cityan was fined $37 for disorderly conduct Thursday night by Circuit Judge George Moran Jr. The boy had been taken into custody by police early that day after a disturbance at his home.

News notes

Robert Gibson, Illinois AFL-CIO president, and Orville Bergren, Illinois Manufacturers' Association president, today warned of economic setbacks if the state continues to allow its road and bridge network to deteriorate.

The Illinois Transportation Improvement Council is backing legislation to raise the 7½¢ tax per gallon motor fuel tax to 12¢ over the next two years, with all yearly auto registration fees boosted to $44.

The Alton Telegraph daily newspaper's appeal of a $9.2 million libel judgment awarded to builder James Green was dismissed Thursday by the 5th Appellate Court in Mount Vernon. The court said the appeal should be heard by the federal Bankruptcy Court, which previously ruled that it had no jurisdiction.

Appellate Justice Charles Jones said jurisdiction over the appeal was transferred to the bankruptcy court last June when that court entered a restraining order barring Green and his attorney from attempting to enforce the judgment against one of the reporters involved in the case.

Six employees of the Madison County supervisor of assessments are receiving layoffs today due to budget restrictions. County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer has ordered a $1,500,000 cost saving in the 1982 budget to avoid a deficit. Employee raises and the economic recession are among factors causing the budget problem.

Illinois has borrowed $1.67 billion from the federal government to pay unemployment compensation claims, the highest such debt in the 50 states. Illegal aliens in Illinois are using falsified registration cards to collect $66 million a year in jobless pay, Attorney General Tyrone Fahner said Thursday.

Cong. Robert A. Roe (D-N.J.), chairman of the House subcommittee on water resources, said Friday, "It is essential that a second Alton replacement lock be authorized by Congress at the earliest possible moment. It is the linchpin for the entire upper Mississippi River transportation system."

Forecasts that happy economic days soon will be here again

To the Editor: If you are in the market for the wares of another gloom and doom economist, you'd better shop elsewhere. I'm not selling.

In all my years, I have never seen so much rampant—and unjustified—pessimism among the nation's leading academic, economic, political, financial and media circles.

Heaven help us if average American workers and business people ever started taking these self-styled experts too seriously.

Yes, we are in a recession. But the solutions—sweeping tax cuts for every American—were already in place before the worst of the recession hit us.

Now, the worst is behind us. The economic news is getting better and it will continue to get better every week for at least the next two years. For example:

—Retail sales in February were up 1.6 percent from January.

—The industrial production index increased in February by 1.6 percent, the first increase since July 1981.

—In February, private sector jobs increased by 135,000. This more than offsets a decline that month of 30,000 public sector jobs.

—Wage and salary income rose $7.7 billion from January to February.

—During the three months through February, the compounded annual rate of inflation as measured by the Consumer Price Index was 3.7 percent.

Unemployment will trend downward through 1983. Inflation, which has already come down, is a reality that has forced the gloom merchants into all kinds of embarrassing contortions as they now try to claim, well, that slower price increases are really a problem.

I realize we are a nostalgic people, but I can't imagine anyone looking back fondly at the good old days of 1980 when consumer prices increased more than 12 percent.

Interest rates have come down in recent months as well, and they will continue to drop throughout this year. And we even have indications that the deficit for fiscal 1982 may be far less than anyone had predicted, including the administration.

In fact, the Treasury Department is simply aghast to find that so far this year, personal and corporate tax collections are running far above anyone's forecasts.

Who says supply side economics doesn't work? But here is the real irony:

President of the NWF, reminded him that the Council's rules require him to convene a meeting of that group whenever a proposed rule change affects other federal agencies.

"Sec. Watt's refusal to convene the council, which he once tried to abolish, for a matter with such broad economic and environmental consequences, is another example of secretive and arbitrary action by the secretary," Hair charged.

The Water Resources Council was created as an independent federal agency in 1955 to encourage wise development and conservation of the nation's water resources.

When Watt proposed abolition of the council last year, Congress overruled him and kept the agency alive.

Unleashed dog in park feared

To the Editor: I was really horrified to hear about the little boy who was attacked by a dog (in St. Louis) and injured so badly. I was shocked when my husband came home with our children from Wilson Park and said a man with an unleashed Doberman was in the play area.

I was always told Granite City had a leash law. I was shocked when my husband came home with our children from Wilson Park and said a man with an unleashed Doberman was in the play area.

Wilson Park is for children and adults, not dogs. It is an unpleasant experience being bitten for the child and parent. We all know that most of the pets in Granite City don't have rabies shots.

If pet owners can't afford these shots, they probably can't afford the pet in the first place.

Leaves Venice park board

Venice Park Board member Jon Gardner resigned that position last week. In a letter to the board, Gardner cited a conflict between his night school sessions and board meeting times.

Venice Comptroller Roseann Koehler reported that Gardner has apparently been unable to attend board meetings for the last four or five months, due to his three nights a week class schedule.

Gardner was elected to the Venice Park Board position last year to a four-year term. He is the son of Venice City Treasurer J. Alan Gardner Sr.

Venice Park Board President George Tyus Jr. will appoint Gardner's successor.

Holy Week in the Orthodox Church

When the greater part of the Christian world celebrated Easter this year on Sunday, the Orthodox Church was celebrating Palm Sunday and preparing to enter into Holy Week which is crowned with the Feast of Pascha (Easter) on April 18.

The reason for this is that the Orthodox Church continues to adhere to the ancient Julian Calendar which calculates the date of Easter in a manner different from that of the Gregorian Calendar common within Western Christendom.

Holy Week is the highlight — liturgically, spiritually and theologically — for the Orthodox faithful, and Pascha itself is called "the Feast of Feasts" or "the great and Holy Day." The faithful of the Orthodox Church prepare to meet this great festival day by keeping with the following liturgical service for Holy Week:

Monday + Wednesday (April 12-14) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 7 p.m. Great and Holy Thursday (April 15) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 10 a.m.; the reading of the 12 "Passion Gospels" at 7 p.m. Great and Holy Friday (April 16) — Vespers of the Passion and Burial of Christ at 4 p.m.; Matins and Prothesis to Christ with Procession at 7:30 p.m. Great and Holy Saturday (April 17) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 10 a.m.; the Feast of Pascha: Nocturns at 11:30 p.m. with Paschal Prothesis at midnight followed by Matins and Divine Liturgy.

The parish priest of S.S. Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church is Father Steven Kostof.

existence — the conflict with the religious authorities, the last Supper, betrayal of Judas, the arrest in the Garden and subsequent trial, culminating in the Crucifixion and Burial of Christ — and in a very real manner partake of the salvation and redemption wrought by Christ.

The texts of Holy Scripture which narrate these events of the Passion of Christ are read in their entirety. At the final nocturnal vigil, the faithful await in great anticipation and eager expectation the joyous acclamation that "Christ is risen!" a refrain sung repeatedly in the Paschal celebration.

S.S. Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church, 4770 Maryville Road, will commemorate the Passion and Resurrection of Christ with the following liturgical service for Holy Week:

Monday + Wednesday (April 12-14) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 7 p.m. Great and Holy Thursday (April 15) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 10 a.m.; the reading of the 12 "Passion Gospels" at 7 p.m. Great and Holy Friday (April 16) — Vespers of the Passion and Burial of Christ at 4 p.m.; Matins and Prothesis to Christ with Procession at 7:30 p.m. Great and Holy Saturday (April 17) — Divine Liturgy of St. Basil the Great at 10 a.m.; the Feast of Pascha: Nocturns at 11:30 p.m. with Paschal Prothesis at midnight followed by Matins and Divine Liturgy.

The parish priest of S.S. Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church is Father Steven Kostof.

Nativity of Virgin Mary Holy Week celebration

Throughout the world, Eastern Orthodox Christians begin to celebrate the observance of Holy Week, with the entrance of Lord Jesus Christ into Jerusalem (Palm Sunday), which they observe of Palm Sunday and ultimately Easter (Pascha), April 18, itself between the Eastern and Western Christians is that the Eastern Christians still include in their calculations that the date of Easter (Pascha) also follows the Jewish Passover. This is maintained to keep a continuity with the Holy Scriptures in those last events in the life of Christ.

Father Thomas Sucarotte, rector of the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Orthodox Church in Madison, announced the following schedule for area Orthodox who desire to come and participate in the Central Feast of the Orthodox ecclesiastical year. It is also a time for those who have been away from the church to come "home" and renew their baptismal commitment to the Lord Jesus Christ.

Hebblethwaite is master counselor

Robert B. Hebblethwaite Jr. was elected master counselor of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, during the chapter's regular meeting at the Masonic Temple, last week. Bob, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hebblethwaite Sr., 4 Eastgate Drive, is a junior at Granite City High School North and attends Grace Baptist Church. He has excelled in obtaining new members for DeMolay having been awarded the Founder's Membership award for five and was "top salesman" at the 1979 and 1980 Illinois DeMolay convention at Macomb. He attended an International DeMolay Leadership Conference at Arcadia, Mo., last summer.

Also elected were: David T. Medley, senior counselor; Fred D. Trebing, junior counselor; Jimmy K. Stuart, chaplain; and Donald E. Payne, treasurer.

The elected and appointed officers will be publicly installed at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 20, at the Masonic Temple, during the meeting, chaired by Master Counselor Pat Gibbons, the newest DeMolays, initiated March 20, were introduced and spoke briefly.

Activities reported on were: church attendance at Granite City Church on Sunday, March 21, Neal A. Mize gave the Ode to the Flag with Jimmy K. Stuart and Fred D. Trebing acting as escort to the flag and the Nine O'Clock Interpolation was given at Gabriel White Shrine's installation of officers, March 29, at the temple.

It was announced that chapter officers will join with others from Alton Chapter and Alton Chapter, Collinsville, in presenting the Initiatory and DeMolay degrees before Emanuel Commandery 81 Knight Templar and their Masonic guests on Thursday, April 20, at the Masonic Temple.

The Mothers Club, in a meeting conducted by Mrs. Barbara McKinney, vice-president, was in session for a separate meeting in the dining hall, they served DeMolays refreshments after their meeting.

Three members of the Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the DAR and two members-at-large attended the 86th State Conference of the Illinois Organization held last week in Chicago at the Drake Hotel. Out of the 130 DAR chapters in Illinois, with an official count of 11,173 members, 81 chapters were represented with an attendance of over 325 ladies.

Mrs. Janet Wilson served as chairman of the Good Citizens Day, which the high school Good Citizens for this year and Mrs. Ronald Mordhorst of Belleville is the state representative. The state were invited to attend. These students have been previously honored by their local DAR chapters.

The State of Illinois is divided into seven divisions and a student from each division is chosen on the basis of a written essay and participation in school, home and community affairs.

This year the division winners, each of whom ranks first in his senior class, were from Monmouth, Marissa, Carlin, South Holland, Taylorville, Godfrey and Richton. From these seven division winners, the state winner is selected.

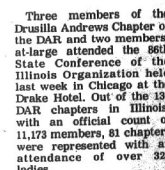

Byron Strauss from Godfrey, a student at Alton High School and from Division Six, is the new state winner. He, entered in the larger North Central District of the United States, placed second; an entrant from Iowa was first.

Division Six, which includes the Drusilla Andrews Chapter, has had three state winners in the past five years. Last year's winner was from Belleville and three years ago the winner was from Aviston.

Mrs. Shirley Schwendemann directed the state chorus which sang at the Museum luncheon on Friday, and Mrs. Barbara Williams, regent to Drusilla Andrews, served as the voting delegate to the meeting.

Mrs. Emma Schoen, past regent and the current registrar of the chapter, was also in attendance, and Miss Diane Schwendemann served as a page for the second year.

Among the awards the local chapter received were several for the chapter yearbook. It received the tri-color award from the National Program Committee for an outstanding yearbook as well as the BRIDAL FAIR '82 gift certificate recipient Carolyn Rowden smiles happily upon receiving the $100 certificate from Hudson Jewelers Ltd., in Bellemore Village Shopping Center.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES...

We would like to thank our many friends and associates for the dinner and reception in our honor on Saturday, April 3.

Words cannot express our deep appreciation to those who worked so hard in putting on the affair, as well as those who were kind enough to attend. We saw old friends and former co-workers that evening, many who traveled several miles to wish us well. The crowd was overwhelming. We shall never forget the words of those on the program and the many gifts, letters and surprises received. Harold is also extremely honored by the Park Board action naming the Recreation Center after him.

We plan to retire in Wright City, Mo., but shall never forget our good friends and acquaintances in our hometown, Granite City. We have many happy memories to cherish.

Sincerely,
Harold and Shirley Brown

Nominations of educators, pupils, others

Nominations are open for the Illinois State Board of Education's 1982-83 "Those Who Excel" awards program, which honors outstanding contributions to Illinois' education system in kindergarten through the twelfth grade.

Nomination forms and supporting materials must be returned to the board's Public Affairs office in Springfield by June 15.

Persons who have made significant contributions to either public or nonpublic schools may be nominated for award in one of the following five categories: teacher, school administrator, school board member, student (grades seven through 12), and parent or other member of the community.

Winners and runnersup will be selected in each of the six geographical areas of the regional superintendent's organization.

A selection committee, comprised of individuals recommended by various state educational organizations, will review nomination materials and choose the winners and runnersup. Awards will be based solely on the committee's evaluations of each nominee's supporting materials.

Finalists in each region will receive plaques and the runnersup will be awarded certificates of recognition. All other nominees in the region will receive appropriate supporting materials will receive letters of honorary mention.

Nomination forms are available in each school district.

The 1982-83 Illinois Teacher of the Year will be selected from finalists in the teacher category.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL FROM 27TH STREET

An ambulance took Albert H. Odum, 57, of 2121 St. Clair Ave. to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 3:40 p.m. Thursday for treatment of injuries suffered in a collision at the Madison Avenue pedestrian crosswalk at 29th Street.

Both vehicles towed from the scene had been headed north. When Odum halted his auto for the crosswalk light, its right rear was hit by the right front of the skidding half-ton pickup truck. V. Juanita Martin, 2127 Delmar Ave.

The first of five condominium buildings being developed and sold by Granite City interests in Country Club View, adjacent to Sunset Hills Country Club, is nearing completion.

Prices range from $92,900 for the Bay Hill design to $147,900 for the Augusta design.

The other design offerings, Colonial and Dorset, are $105,900 and $118,900 respectively.

To these costs, persons should add $500 for a second floor location, $1,000 for third floor location and $2,500 for limited additional parking space.

Country Club View is on Illinois 157 adjacent to Sunset Hills Country Club near Edwardsville and is being developed by Ross Construction Co., Granite City.

Near the condominium development and golf course a subdivision will also be developed by Ross with lots ranging from $30,000 to $55,000. Eight lots are right off the golf course.

Walk-a-thon April 24 fights birth defects

A March of Dimes Walk-A-thon will be held at the U.S. Army Installation, Niedringhaus Avenue and Route 3, Saturday, April 24, starting at 8:30 a.m.

The Granite City walk is in coordination with the walk held nationally and thousands of youngsters and adults will participate on April 24th. This year's local poster child, Vicki Tankley, the daughter of Harold and Linda Tankley, 2530 Westmoreland Drive, will be present the day of the walk.

The purpose behind the walk is to raise money to fight birth defects. The money goes to medical and scientific research, the encouragement of professional education in the area of birth defects, and the promotion of prenatal care. Individuals who sponsor to pledge a certain amount of money for each kilometer walked. This money is then collected after the walk.

Those able to turn in the most money receive prizes, including a portable television, digital watch, Cardinal baseball tickets, Six Flag tickets, tee shirts, and others.

Aside from individuals walking, this year, team walks also are being encouraged. Team walks operate on the same principle, except they collect money as a team and are awarded prizes based on the amount the team has collected. Team prizes include 20 passes to the Esquire Theater in Clayton.

A congratulatory advertisement and picture of the winning team will appear in the Press-Record. Sponsor forms are available to walkers at the Granite City Trust Bank, 1909 Edison Ave., First Granite City National Bank, 20th Street and Edison Avenue, American Heritage Bank, Nantuxell and Fehling roads, and Colonial Bank of Granite City, Maryville and Pontoon roads.

Forms are available for individual and teams alike. For all participants, food and soft drinks will be provided by Burger Chef, 2842 Madison Ave.

Further information is available from the chairman, Ben Konzen or Ed Fitzherry at 878-8500 or B.J. Davis at 878-8500.

Madison County in test program to identify stolen farm items

A pilot program aimed at fighting the theft of farm machinery that would utilize his office's expertise in combating auto theft has been announced Wednesday by Secretary of State Jim Edgar and Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant.

Edgar's farm machinery theft program would utilize the Farm Bureau's uniform method of identifying farm equipment in four counties and, through the use of his office's computer system, would provide instant identification of stolen farm equipment for law enforcement personnel throughout Illinois and the nation.

Edgar said his office also will coordinate farm machinery theft investigations. Currently, there are 82 Illinois counties and more than 25,000 farms participating in the Farm Bureau's program, but there is no central coordination of theft investigations among counties.

A Secretary of State's Department of Police investigator training in auto theft will be designated in each of the department's four districts and will serve as a farm machinery theft specialist.

"Illinois ranks high in the number of stolen and unrecovered pieces of farm machinery and vehicles stolen each year. In 1981, there were 351 such thefts reported in what has become a multi-million dollar a year business in Illinois."

"The Secretary of State's Office is a leader in the fight against auto theft and it only makes sense that we utilize our expertise, manpower and computer system to expand our efforts to include farm machinery and other equipment," Edgar said.

county sheriff that indicates the geographic location of the equipment by state and county.

"Before we instituted this program, law enforcement personnel could trace a 15 year-old junk automobile worth $500 five different ways," Edgar said.

"By entering the identification numbers and license plate numbers on the state's computer system, law enforcement personnel throughout Illinois and the nation will be able to trace farm machinery registered in these four counties instantly."

"Illinois is the first state to make this information available to other states through the Law Enforcement Agencies Data System (LEADS) and we will ask other states, particularly our border states, to do the same. This is particularly important because we believe that much stolen farm equipment is transported across state lines, where it will not be recognized by farm implement dealers or farmers in the area as it would in the county from which it was stolen," Edgar said.

"We are happy to have the cooperation and support of the Illinois Farm Bureau and the sheriffs of these four counties in creating what has become a serious problem for Illinois farmers," Edgar said.

Aggrieved with Edgar and Toffant at a news conference in Springfield to announce the program were Madison County Farm Bureau Manager Frank Thomas and the sheriffs and Farm Bureau representatives of the other counties in the test program.

New agriculture office open at fairgrounds

Governor James R. Thompson officially opened Illinois' new Department of Agriculture Laboratory building at the state fairgrounds.

"It is appropriate that the state's leading industry be served by such a fine facility," Thompson said.

"Agriculture in Illinois generates jobs for a large segment of our population," Thompson said. "Its importance must not be overlooked."

The new building at the Illinois State Fairgrounds will house the entire Department of Agriculture Springfield staff. Previously, the staff was scattered throughout several older buildings on the fairgrounds.

"With the staff now in one building we will be much more productive in serving the farmers and agribusinesses of Illinois," Agriculture Director Larry Werries said. "It also will serve as a symbol of the state's leading agriculture."

One of the unique features of the new Department of Agriculture building is its auxiliary solar energy system. The unit is designed to supply 2 percent of the structure's air conditioning energy, 43 percent of the space heating needs and 70 percent of the energy needs for domestic hot water.

The solar energy system is the largest of its kind in midwestern and Eastern states and is intended to promote the use of solar technology. The system, funded in part by the U.S. Department of Energy, will be carefully monitored for a period of five years.

Conservation District to sponsor fish sale

The Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District will sponsor the sale of fish for those wanting to stock ponds.

The fish are pond-grown cents, 6-8" at 50 cents and 8-10" at 50 cents.

Hybrid Bluegill, 1-3" at 40¢ per bag of 250, 4-5" at 35¢ and Bass, 3" at 35¢ each. There is a minimum order of $15.

The fish must be ordered in advance and district Chairman Melvin Balsters requests early reservations, since quantities are limited. Containers of pond-water are needed for transporting the catfish, bass and 4-5" Bluegill will be bagged. Allow one gallon of water for each four to six fish.

Orders must be placed before April 22, so call 656-5166, mail your order to P.O. Box 482, Edwardsville, or stop by the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District office.

TV TEASERS

By W. WILSON CASEY

1. Albert and Jane Miller (Larry Hagman and Donna Mills) left the aggravations of middle-class life to take on what type of jobs in the NBC series, "The Good Life," which also starred David Wayne as easygoing Charles Dutton?

2. Who was George's (Rupert Crosse) partner on the police detective comedy, "The Partners"? John Doucette starred as their precinct captain.

3. Name the comedy series. Clues: Linc McCray (Dean Jones) ... Big Nick (Art Metrano) ... Mobsters ... 1920s ... Chicago ... Satire of the gangster era ... CBS ... Marvin Kaplan ... John Banner.

4. Who was the Partridge Family's business manager on the comedy musical series of the same name? Stars included Shirley Jones and David Cassidy.

5. On "Welcome Back, Kotter" that starred Gabe Kaplan as teacher of the Swathgows, what was the name of the high school?

6. On the old "Mary Tyler Moore Show," an episode of Ted Knight's brother coming to town was aired. What late actor (killed in a fire) played the part of the brother?

- Answers:
1. Butler and cook
 2. Don Adams
 3. Chicago Teddy Bears
 4. Reuben (Dave Madden)
 5. James Buchanan
 6. Jack Cassidy
